At least 27 killed in massive fire in Delhi's Mundka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

At least 27 people were killed and 40 others sustained burns as a massive fire ripped through a three-storey commercial building near Mundka metro station in Delhi on Friday.

Confirming the number of deaths, the Delhi Fire Services said the search was still on as more people were feared trapped inside the building. The bodies were not identified at the time of going to press. "It was a massive fire. So far, we have recovered 26 bodies.

All bodies were found charred," said Delhi Fire Services chief Atul Garg earlier. He said the fire department received information about the blaze at 4:40 pm following which 25 fire tenders were rushed to the spot. Police also arrived following a PCR call around the same time. Police officials broke the windows of the burning building and rescued people. Sources said the fire started from the office of a CCTV camera manufacturing company on the first floor. The owner of the company has been taken into custody.

Much of PK's prescriptions for Cong revival would find place in its Udaipur Declaration

The Congress used PK's first slide of his presentation as one of its main Mahatma Gandhi quotes on banners and hoardings at the venue. The quote read: "the Indian National Congress... cannot be allowed to die, it can only die with the nation."

His proposals to create new party positions, build in-house election machinery and set up a parliamentary board will feature in Udaipur Declaration

SHAHID FARIDI @ Udaipur

THE shadow of election strategist Prashant Kishor loomed large over the Nav Sankalp Chintan Shivir of the Congress that began here on Friday.

For, the Udaipur Declaration the party will release at the conclusion of the brainstorming camp, will be dominated by ideas put forward by Kishor in his presentation at Congress president Sonia Gandhi's residence last month.

The party will announce setting up an in-house election machinery that would conduct surveys and handle all election-related work. This was one of Kishor's suggestions. He was, in fact, keen on heading this election machinery/department as a general secretary. Sources said that was one reason why others pushed back against his induction, as they felt that post would make all other general secretaries redundant since they would have little role in candidate selection, campaign and funding.

Kishor had also strongly criticised the Congress' "jaded and aged leadership" and advocated induction of youth at all levels for better connect with the young population. The party has decided to reserve 50% of all party posts for leaders under the age of 50 years. This would be one of the landmark decisions that would bring in a large number of young Congressmen to the fore.

Kishor's criticism of the party for rewarding unelected sycophants and thereby turning itself into non-democratic organisation has also been paid heed to. The party has decided to hold elections at all levels and have fixed tenures for office bearers.

Another of his key suggestions was on promoting inclusive representation with regard to gender and social groups. The Congress has reportedly accepted this proposal too.

The party has announced that it would create more organisational units between the booth and the block. This would create a large number of new party functionaries and leaders. It is in line with Kishor's idea of creating an additional "15,000 grassroots leaders... and foot soldiers".

The party has also reportedly decided to set up a parliamentary board to work on strategies to corner the government on people's issues in Parliament. The board would also work on creating Opposition synergy in Parliament, which could result into electoral alliances. Setting it up was also one of Kishor's ideas.

ACID ATTACK ACCUSED NAGESH HELD IN TN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SIXTEEN days after the gruesome acid attack on a 21-year old woman in Kamakshipalya police limits, the Bengaluru city police on Friday arrested the accused, Nagesh alias Babu, from Tiruvannamalai in Tamil Nadu, where he was staying disguised as a priest.

Nagesh had moved to Tiruvannamalai immediately after committing the crime and was staying there for the last two weeks to evade arrest.

City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant is holding a media briefing on Saturday to reveal more details about the operation that led to Nagesh's arrest.

RPF dismantles illegal structure in Yelahanka

BENGALURU: A structure installed by some people for unauthorised trespass on to Yelahanka railway tracks from New Yelahanka Town to Old Yelahanka Town has been dismantled and removed by the Bengaluru Railway Division. This follows a video released by The New Indian Express on the risk undertaken by members of the public. According to Chief Public Relations Officer, South Western Railway, Aneesh Hegde, "The gate is meant only for access to Signal and Telecommunication staff for maintaining the signalling system. The lock of the gate had been broken and people had been trespassing." The CPRO said that the Railway Protection Force had been instructed to maintain strict vigil in the interest of public safety. According to a railway source, a three-stepped strong structure using railway scrap was put up by some people, including those residing in the Railway Colony. "Engineering department staff reached the spot and removed it after it was highlighted by The New Indian Express on social media."

Aadhaar-linked pension payment at doorsteps across state soon

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the successful initiative of post offices in Gol Gumbaz and Sathanur, which started doorstep payment of social security pensions in the state, the Karnataka Postal Circle now plans to extend the service across the state. This initiative helps beneficiaries withdraw their money without visiting any post office or even filling up any withdrawal slip.

Chief Postmaster General of the Circle (CPMG), Rajendra S Kumar told The New Indian Express, "There are around 30 lakh pensioners in Karnataka. The positive response to our initiative from pensioners who received their pensions from two post offices we piloted in Vijayapura and Channarayana districts has spurred us to extend the facility across the state. We will be rolling it out in all districts within the next three months. We had started it a month ago for 212 pensioners in Gol Gumbaz and for 94 pensioners in Sathanur.

Until two years ago, social security pensions were paid through money orders delivered at the doorsteps. "Subsequently, Karnataka government had begun depositing it in the postal accounts of pensioners. Senior citizens had to queue up in post office for withdrawing it. Hence we came up with a solution to redress it by making use of an Aadhaar-enabled payment," Kumar said. D Cube is the app that is used for the payment, the CPMG added.

Motilal Jadhav, one of the pensioners from Mattlana village in Vijayapura, who receives his pension from the Al-napura Post Office, said, "I am really happy with this new arrangement. I receive Rs 1,200 every month at home now. I had to walk some distance to the nearby post office earlier to collect it after filling up some form."

Hakim, speaking on behalf of his mother, said, "The whole process of pension disbursement has been speeded up now. My mother used to stand in a long queue to get it earlier. With pensions distributed only between 9am and 2pm, she had to leave home early and reach the Gol Gumbaz office. Now, she gets her pension within ten minutes."

Metro's Lavi restarts tunnelling work after repair

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

NAMMA Metro's Tunnel Boring Machine (TBM) 'Lavi' commenced its eight-month journey from MG Road to Vellara Junction on Friday. The machine, which has been repaired and re-launched in a record duration of one month, will drill a distance of 1,110 metres below the ground before it grinds to a halt.

Lavi is one of the nine TBMs carrying out tunnelling work for constructing an underground corridor which runs a total distance of 20,945 metres for the Nagawara-Kalena Agrahara Line of Phase-II. It had earlier tunnelled a distance of 1,086 metres from Shivajiagar to MG Road and reached its destination on April 14.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, a senior Namma Metro official said the unique achievement became possible after all the repair works that had to be carried out in the China-made machine when it tunnelled during its earlier leg, were done while it was being shifted from one end of MG Road to the other. "In technical terms we call it 'Drag Through'.

The TBM was being readied even as it was dragged slowly underground on the 200-metre stretch of MG Road from its north-end (junction of Cubbon Road and Kamaraj Road) to its south-end (junction of Kamaraj Road and MG Road). Four hydraulic jacks were used to shift the 350-tonne machine," the official said.

Work was in progress 24x7 during the period with 40 workers working in two shifts, he added. "A platform was erected near the Cutter Head that runs to a diameter of 6.5 metres. Parts like scraper, cutter disc, drag bit and housing (base of machine) had to be arranged. We had to replace all the 44 cutter discs on the head cutter before its new trip," the official said.

The other machines involved in underground operations are Rudra, Vamika, Varada, Avni, Urja, Vinhdya, Tunga and Bhadra.

SSLC results on May 19, says education minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PRIMARY and Secondary Education Minister B C Nagesh said on Friday that the Secondary School Leaving Certificate (SSLC) examination results will be announced on May 19. "The SSLC results will be uploaded by 10.30 am on May 19 and every student will be able to access it on the same day," he said, while speaking to reporters after inaugurating a junior sports hostel in Madikeri.

The Karnataka Secondary Education Examination Board (KSEEB) will upload the exam results on their website: sslc.karnataka.gov.in. The results will also be available on karresults.nic.in. Candidates will need to log in using their registration/roll numbers. KSEEB had uploaded answer keys for the exams on April 12 which can be checked on their website.

The SSLC examinations took place between March 28 and April 11, with over 8.73 lakh students appearing at 3,440 centres across the state. The education minister had earlier mentioned that the results would be released by the second week of May. Last year, of the 8.71 lakh students who appeared for the exam, 99.99% had passed, according to data provided by the education department in August 2021. This year schools are set to open on May 16.

B'lruru, Hyd, Chennai make up for 35% of inverter demand

BENGALURU: Bengaluru, Hyderabad and Chennai make up for 35 per cent of the demand for inverters in Tier-1 cities, a report found recently. The report, released by Justdial, shows that pan-India searches for inverters and ACs increased over the last month, with the three cities making up for a combined 35 per cent of the demand for inverters. Delhi, meanwhile, made up for 28 per cent of the demand for inverters. Tier-2 cities also saw a 146 per cent jump in searches for inverters on the site. The findings come amid the ongoing power crisis in India. Interestingly, according to Justdial Chief Marketing Officer, Prasun Kumar, the site has also recorded mass exodus of shop owners moving to sell through the website to reach a wider customer base. "Increasingly we are witnessing local shops and neighbourhood stores entering the digital space to bring in new customers and revenue. We have tried to aggregate all the dealers of electronic goods on the platform, enabling our customers to make an informed choice and get the best deal. The up tick in demand stands in good stead for our neighbourhood ecommerce ecosystem," he said.

PETER VIDAL

14th May: There's a fabulous Moon on the way. I always like these moments because the celestial energy encourages us to take some time off, before getting on with new ventures after a few days. Of course, this only works if you have a minimum of responsibilities, a sympathetic family and an understanding employer!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20) The Sun and Moon are combining to lift your spirits. In fact, today's planetary indications are distinctly optimistic, and you should be aware that the more confident you are that you are on the right track, the more likely you will be to find success in your own way.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21) If there's the slightest hint of a domestic crisis today, then be sure to talk about any likely causes of discontent before things get out of hand. It's up to you to make your views known first. The point is that what is difficult for others, might be easy for you.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) This is an excellent day for all involved in the property market or planning domestic improvements, even if there is a chance that you'll over-reach yourself. Combine a sense of vision in the future with a dose of good old down-to-earth common sense.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) Three planets gather in sensitive regions of your chart today, from where they will challenge you to surpass yourself in every area of your life. Specifically, though, their combined result will be to put your relationships under the spotlight more than ever.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) You were born under an independent sign, and sometimes you don't notice your individualistic behaviour. Close friends, on the other hand, can be highly perplexed when your moods seem to change without warning, so please do try to make yourself understood.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) It's unlikely that you'll have much time to yourself, probably because of the arrangements you're committed to organising or fulfilling. It will pay to make the most of your resources and not be distracted by well-meaning friends. It will also do you good to make pleasure one of your guiding principles.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) As the weekend is here, domestic responsibilities will be calling, but the awareness that you're on the edge of a financial, professional or personal breakthrough will lead you in other directions. Arrange your time carefully, or you'll go down a blind alley - or two!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) For some strange reason, opportunities may slip through your hands. Perhaps it's just that they're removing too fast. Or perhaps it's that you're not concentrating. The current period may not yet be bright for the success that is undoubtedly due to you, so why not bide your time for a week or two.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) You are by nature a sociable creature but right now you need to be pursuing certain goals by yourself. It also seems likely that if you discuss your plans with too many people they may offer you conflicting or confusing advice. It's up to you to sort the deep useful from the totally useless!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) An amazing total of six planets is now directly involved in your love life and relationships, which could mean that emotionally you're spoiled for choice. It's time for you to initiate social contacts rather than waiting for others to take the lead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) At times like these business and pleasure merge, with the result that work can be rather enjoyable but domestic life can become just a little too hectic. Fortunately you've got what it takes to find a happy medium. And that's precisely what you must do!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20) Scarcely a moment passes when you don't have something to organise or some little task to complete. Yet this weekend, more than ever, you should broaden your horizons and look to the long-term future. It's not old friends who matter so much as new acquaintances, people you are only now coming to know.

Our prayers answered, say kin of acid attack victim

'Family members of accused, those who supplied acid should be arrested'

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

FAMILY members of acid attack victim Aasha (name changed) are relieved that accused Nagesh was arrested by Kamakshipalya police at Tiruvannamalai in Tamil Nadu. "But we will be satisfied only when he is punished," said her uncle Sundaresh. "As Aasha was getting worried that he could attack her again, we had told her last week that he had been arrested. We have not informed her about the latest developments," he said.

"We had almost lost hope of his arrest. I had gone to the police station two days ago and asked them to give us a firm answer whether he would be arrested. We were planning to meet Police Commissioner Kamal Pant next Tuesday. We were in constant touch with Women's Commission Chairperson Pramila Naidu, who visited Aasha two days ago and assured us that the accused would be arrested," he said.

"We had prayed before our family deities, Madanathamma of Mandya and Veerabhadreshwara of Nagamangala, four days ago. Aasha's parents, her newly wedded sister and the entire family are relieved with his arrest," he said. "Nagesh had told his brother two days before the attack that he would be on news TV channels soon, and the family should have alerted us. The police should arrest his family members and also the person who gave him the acid. We will be at peace when all of them are convicted," he said.

Aasha, who is showing signs of recovery, has been moved from the ICU to a special ward at St John's Hospital. She is being given porridge, milk and eggs.

Pramila said, "I have congratulated the team of DCP Sanjeev Patil for arresting the accused."

Nagesh was sitting with priests when he was held

"BASED on a tipoff from citizens, who had seen him disguised as a priest, the police started keeping a close watch on Nagesh's movements for the last 10 days. Local residents, who had spotted Nagesh and given the information, also joined the group of priests to keep a watch. The priests were sitting with him in front of a temple when we caught him," the police said.

The police teams are likely to arrive in Bengaluru with Nagesh late on Friday night. He will immediately be produced before a magistrate and then taken to police custody for a detailed interrogation.

Police sources said Nagesh had reached the Bengaluru city railway station soon after pouring a bottle full of acid on the victim Aasha (name changed), whom he was stalking since she was 17 years old. He then boarded a train to reach Tamil Nadu. The police had checked CCTV footage of all railway stations and bus stands to track his movements, but had found no leads.

Seven special teams had been formed to nab Nagesh. Some had gone to neighbouring states and visited temples as they suspected that he would visit religious places to confess to his crime. They gathered information about his presence at a temple in Tiruvannamalai and caught him.

"He was wearing saffron robes to pose as a priest and was even collecting alms from devotees for a few days. He was eating on the temple premises and was not moving away, as he was scared that someone would identify him and give information to the police. He was also refraining from booking hotel rooms or visiting any restaurants or eateries. He had all his meals at the temple. It is too early to share more details about his plans as senior police officials are waiting to interrogate him," the official said.

Early on April 28 morning, Nagesh allegedly threw acid on Aasha as she had reportedly turned down his marriage proposal. Nagesh, who owned a garment factory, had sold all his garment stocks and machines days before his attack.

The Bengaluru police had released his photographs a week ago and elicited help from the public to nab him.

NIA spl court denies anticipatory bail to accused in Lankan trafficking case

MG CHETAN @Bengaluru

THE NIA Special Court has rejected the anticipatory bail application filed by an accused wanted in connection with the human trafficking of 38 Sri Lankan nationals, who were brought to Tamil Nadu by sea and later to Mangaluru, to be sent to Canada by sea illegally.

Seeni Aabul Khan, a resident of Mandapam in Ramanathapuram of Tamil Nadu, who is accused number nine in the case, has been absconding since June last year when the case came to light. The case, which was initially registered in Mangaluru South police station, was handed over to the National Investigation Agency (NIA) for further probe.

Aabul Khan had moved an anticipatory bail petition seeking relief and his counsel contended that Aabul Khan had received the Sri Lankans believing that they were refugees.

"The arrival of Sri Lankan refugees to India is common nowadays because of the economic crisis and political instability in Sri Lanka and the Government of India is generous in receiving refugees from there and providing them food and shelter," the counsel contended.

However, the prosecution had submitted that Aabul Khan had carried out various phases of the crime such as harbouring, providing logistical arrangements like transportation and lodging and misleading the public in Mangaluru that the Sri Lankan na-

Nirmala likely to contest RS polls from state again

BJP Core Committee meeting to shortlist candidates today

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

UNION Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman is likely to contest Rajya Sabha polls from Karnataka again. The BJP Core Committee, which will meet on Saturday in Bengaluru, is expected to finalise the candidates and send the list to party central leaders for approval. Of the four Rajya Sabha seats from Karnataka, BJP with 120 MLAs can get two RS members elected. While Sitharaman's name is confirmed, the other contestant could be a dark horse.

Sitharaman was elected to the Rajya Sabha in 2016 and her tenure ends next month. A senior BJP leader told The New Indian Express that they are keen to send her to the Upper House for the second term as it is a matter of prestige for Karnataka to elect a member who is a Union minister. "We are sure central leaders will give their nod for Sitharaman, but we are not certain of the second candidate," he added.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the party core committee meeting on Saturday will discuss and finalise the number of seats to be contested in the Council and Rajya Sabha elections.

BJP state General Secretary N Ravikumar said they have already announced three candidates for the Council - Arun Shahapur (North-West Teachers), Hanumanth Rudrappa Nirani (North-West Graduates) and MV Ravishankar (South Graduates). The party ticket for the West Teachers' constituency may go to Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti, who joined BJP recently.

While biennial elections to the Legislative Council is on June 3, polls for two graduates' and teachers' constituencies are on June 10 and 13, respectively. The Rajya Sabha polls are on June 10.

Bommai said they already discussed other issues during a meeting with BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kattel on Thursday. "Issues related to Council and Rajya Sabha elections will be discussed in detail at Core Committee," he added.

JDS, busy with its Jaladhare event, is yet to discuss the council and Rajya Sabha polls. "We have no time, we are going to meet in the next couple of days," said leader Bandappa Kashampur JDS, which has 32 MLAs, falls short of electing even one Rajya Sabha candidate as 45 votes are required. Kashampur said leaders will decide whether to field a candidate from party or to support candidates of other parties.

Congress members, who are attending the Chintan Shibir in Rajasthan, are likely to get directions from party leaders on the polls.

Over 1L attend JDS Jaladhare valedictory

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JDS sounded the poll bugle ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections in a big fashion with the valedictory of the 'Janata Jaladhare' programme turning out to be a crowd puller at Nelamangala in Bengaluru Rural on Friday.

Former prime minister HD Deve Gowda could not have asked for more as the party's rank and file, including his politically active family members, put up a united front. JDS state president CM Ibrahim, his predecessor HK Kumaraswamy and Anitha Kumaraswamy shared the dais with Gowda.

Senior leader HD Kumaraswamy said JDS has traction among people, pointing to the crowd of over one lakh, mainly from Mysuru region, who had turned up for the event.

He and his brother HD Revanna, both clad in dhotis, and their sons - Nikhil Kumaraswamy and Prajwal Revanna - showcased their bonhomie, to send out a message that the family is united. Kunchitiga Vokkaliga community religious head Sri Nanjavadhuta Swami threw his weight behind the Gowda family and JDS by his presence. The 'Janata Jaladhare' programme was launched on April 16 by JDS to organise its workers ahead of the Assembly polls.

Leaders missing

A FEW JDS MLAs, including GT Deve Gowda, SR Srinivas and K Srinivas Gowda, who have almost left the party, and senior leaders, including MLA Raveendra Srikantegowda and former MLC YSV Datta, gave the event a miss, indicating that they would quit the party ahead of the Assembly polls. Raveendra was absent due to personal reasons, JDS sources said.

Will give BJP a list of JDS leaders: Ibrahim

BENGALURU: It can be easily seen that JDS is the only major party in Karnataka that is losing legislators rapidly. The BJP's Old Mysore push is looking more ominous for the JDS since many of the targeted candidates for BJP are those from the JDS. Former MLA Manjunath Gowda had joined BJP from Malur last week. He might not be the last as many more are expected to jump ship as the polls come close. When asked, JDS president CM Ibrahim confidently said, "JDS is not bothered by poaching. If they (the BJP) ask, we can give them a list, and they can take them. It will not affect our electoral performance." Speaking about the BJP targeting Gowda and other JDS leaders, he said, "It will not affect the JDS. We have a plan and we will do well. The people are with us."

Speaking after launching a helpline 'Hello Revenue Minister-Pension at the doorstep in 72 Hours' started by the Revenue department, the CM said acid attack victims undergo acute mental agony and rejection by the society.

"It is the responsibility of the government help them. In this regard their monthly pension has been raised from Rs 3,000 to Rs 10,000. Apart from this, they would be provided site and housing. Financial assistance up to Rs 5 lakh for self employment will also be provided so that they can start a venture of their own to lead a life with dignity," the CM said.

New initiatives

The CM said the programme to deliver revenue documents to the doorstep of the farmers has been launched and this will help over 50 lakh families. The objective to deliver social security pensions to the doorsteps of the beneficiaries will be fulfilled, he said. PSI SCAM

Recruitment wing DySP held

ENS @ Bengaluru

IN a major development, the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) on Friday arrested Deputy Superintendent of Police (DySP), Recruitment, Shanthkumar in connection with the police sub-inspector (PSI) recruitment scam a day after he was detained for questioning by the agency. He is said to be in the top hierarchy in the recruitment wing.

According to sources, the DySP is allegedly involved in tampering of the OMR sheets of some successful candidates in the PSI exam, which were held in October last year. The government has annulled the exams following the scam.

Shanthkumar has been posted in the recruitment wing for more than 12 years and was recently transferred to Internal Security Division (ISD). He had joined the police department as a constable of the City Armed Reserve (CAR) in 2006. He took the Reserve Sub-Inspector (RSI) examination in 2006 under the in-service quota and cleared it. He had served as RSI with CAR and ISD before he was transferred to the recruitment wing. He was promoted to the rank of inspector and subsequently as DySP.

JDS MLAs from Deve Gowda's turf skip event

UDAYA KUMAR BR @ Hassan

TWO JDS MLAs from home turf of JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda skipped the valedictory event of the Janata Jaladhare programme in Bengaluru on Friday. MLAs KM Shivalingegowda and AT Ramaswamy from Arsikere and Arkalgud Assembly constituencies respectively attended different programmes in repetitive constituencies.

Shivalingegowda has been keeping a distance with party activities for two months due to a reported rift with JDS leaders HD Revanna and HD Kumaraswamy.

Sources said that Shivalingegowda is likely to join Congress and contest in a Congress ticket in the 2023 assembly elections. Ramaswamy has decided against contesting the 2023 assembly elections as he was frustrated with politics and the attitude of senior leaders sources added.

Revanna had recently said that Shivalingegowda and Ramaswamy had already clarified that they will not attend the Janata Jaladhare programme due to unavoidable circumstances and send the local leaders and workers to the rally. Over 2,000 JDS workers from Hassan district attended the valedictory event.

The party has arranged 450 KSRTC buses to ferry the workers which brought hardship to commuters due to lack of KSRTC buses to taluk centres from the district headquarters in Hassan on Friday.

Pawar-MES leaders' meet puts BJP in a spot

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

WHILE BJP has been able to successfully consolidate its hold on the majority Marathi voters in recent elections in at least seven assembly segments on Karnataka's border with Maharashtra in Belagavi region, the possible entry of NCP chief Sharad Pawar ahead of 2023 assembly polls may dent saffron party's prospects.

The recent meeting of Pawar with pro-Marathi leaders of MES in Belagavi is cause for concern for the BJP. The former Union minister is expected to rally behind MES, with an eye on a large number of Marathi votes in Athani, Nipani, Kagwad, Khanapur, Belagavi Rural, Belagavi South and Belagavi North - seven assembly segments in the inter-state border region.

A prominent MES leader Manohar Kinekar, ex-MLA, said the Marathi voters began rallying behind the BJP, impressed by former deputy prime minister LK Advani's leadership two decades ago. However, the Marathi voters are currently upset with the BJP. "I say so based on the way Marathi voters supported MES candidate Shubham Shelke in the assembly polls from Belagavi Rural constituency last time," he said.

Kinekar added that MES leadership was yet to hold any meeting with Pawar on a possible NCP-MES tie-up.

Cong's 'one family, one ticket' parley rekindles hopes in young turks

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

THE Congress Chintan Shivar in Udaipur has rekindled hopes of young turks who see better prospects in the election year.

The grand old party is discussing the demand for total revamp with a stringent policy of "one family, one ticket" by the Congress Youth brigade to facilitate better representation of youths in the party and elected bodies.

Hesitant to express their opinion in public, in private, they admitted that "one family, one ticket" policy will be a booster for the youths particularly those aspiring for a Congress ticket. It would curb nepotism, they felt, and would send a strong message to rejuvenate the party.

In Karnataka, for instance, more than 15 families have managed to get more than one seat in their family including KPCC president DK Shivakumar, Campaign Committee Chairman MB Patil, Opposition leader Siddaramaiah, Shamanur Shiva Shnakarappa, Mallikarjuna Kharge, KH Muniyappa, former Ministers Ramalinga Reddy, Krishnapa and son Priya Krishna, Lakshmi Hebbalkar, Ajay Singh and others.

Those who failed to bag two tickets for the Assembly elections have managed to get party ticket to the Legislative Council or have contested Lok Sabha polls which is one of the reasons for defections among loyal party workers and aspirants.

Senior Congress workers requesting anonymity said that he had to quit the party as the Union Minister managed to field his own children in the Assembly election, ignoring the workers' hard work for over two decades.

If a few selected families bag 30 to 50 seats of the 223 claiming legacy or get tickets for their wards, how do the party bosses expect Congress to grow in these constituencies, asked

Reject Anti-Conversion Ordinance, Congress urges Governor

BENGALURU: The Congress party on Friday urged Governor Thawar Chand Gehlot to reject the The Karnataka Protection of Rights to Freedom of Religion Ordinance. "The BJP government is trying to impose Anti-Conversion law on people through Ordinance to divert the attention of people," Opposition Leader Siddaramaiah said and urged the Governor to reject the Ordinance. "Our law is capable of stopping conversion forced through incentives and threats. Then what is the need for the new law? The only reason is to threaten and harass the minorities," he said. Calling the move a political agenda of the RSS, he said that true Hindus practice harmony and universal brotherhood. He said the Constitution allows individuals to freely convert to any religion.

a young Congress leader.

Former legislators felt that the party had lost Jyotiraditya Scindia, Himanta Biswa Sarma, and other prospective candidates to appease the veterans. And so, they said that Congress president Sonia Gandhi and party's senior leader Rahul Gandhi should avoid any further betrayal of the Congress workers which could damage the party's revival before the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

When contacted, KPCC working president R Druvanarayan said that the discussion on "one family, one ticket" is a good move which would strengthen the party. "I personally feel that I should retire from active politics if I want to introduce my son into politics," he added.

Political commentator Prof Musafar Azazi said the discussion on "one family, one ticket" is a step towards democratising the party, which can usher in qualitative, structural changes.

Ramya showed indiscipline, Congress leaders hit back

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

A social media war broke out in the Congress party after former MP and actress Ramya took a dig at KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Twitter.

The grand old party's top brass including the KPCC working president R Dhruvanarayan, Youth Congress president Mohammed Nalapad has attacked the actress saying that her tweets were unwarranted and unnecessary.

Dhruvanarayan, speaking to reporters on Friday, said that the actress has shown indiscipline by complaining against the KPCC president in public.

"She could have brought the issue to the Congress leaders instead of tweeting," he said.

"She could've approached the AICC general secretary or the state in-charge with a complaint," Dhruvanarayan said.

Nalapad, who was trolled by Ramya on Twitter, said, "We are never against Ramya. She is a former MP from our party and she represented a Lok Sabha constituency at a young age. But when someone questions our leader, we will defend. Since she has questioned it openly we have taken to that platform to respond," he said. It is his responsibility as Congress Youth chief to defend the leaders, he said.

Suggest ways to classify 15% SC quota: Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai rekindled hopes of the Madiga community (SC left) which has been struggling for the 15 per cent Schedule Community quota as per the recommendations of the Justice Sadashiva Commission report.

Addressing the workshop of the intellectuals' forum of the community at the fourth World Madiga Day on Friday, Bommai sought the suggestion of the forum, the religious heads and political leaders on how the internal reservation can be implemented without impacting the other 100 castes within the SC category. He also sought the community's support to strengthen his hand.

"Your demand over the years for internal reservation is not new. Reservation is your right and nothing wrong in insisting on that. But it should not mete out injustice to others in the process of implementation," he stated.

"Although many commissions have given their reports on the reservation, you should suggest ways to operate it and we should sit together with all communities to chalk out a plan to give social justice with social harmony," he maintained.

SC/ST BPL families to get 75 units of free power

BENGALURU: State government has decided to give free power supply up to 75 units per month to BPL card holders belonging to Schedule Caste and Schedule Tribe. The decision was taken by power minister V Sunil Kumar. The state government has to bear an additional Rs 979 crore and the decision will come into effect immediately from May 1. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai had announced the same during the birth anniversary of Babu Jagjivan Ram recently. A Government Order is expected to be issued in two days. At present, free power supply up to 40 units is given to SC/ST members with BPL cards. Proposal to increase it to 75 units had come from the Department of Social Welfare. A release from the Minister's office said that the file related to this initiative has been sent to the Finance Department. Free power supply up to 75 units per month will also be applicable to those who are getting power subsidy under Bhagya Jyothi and Kuteera Jyothi schemes. Presently, there are 1,46,65,910 customers who use power below 75 units.

Focus on larger goal, MB Patil urges party workers

BENGALURU: Following a full-scale social media battle between former MP Ramya and Congress leaders, the party central leaders have asked the leaders to restrain themselves. "The KPCC president himself had asked all to end the discussion. Prolonging it will be detrimental to Karnataka. I urge all party workers focus on the larger mission. Let's work together," Congress Campaign Committee Chairman MB Patil stated. Patil said Congress is a party of internal democracy. "Unwritten code of ethics was breached. Hence Ramya voiced her opinion in the best interest of party. Some in the party have spoken out of turn and demeaned her," Patil stated.

Monsoon likely to hit Kerala coast on May 27

Met officials say onset of South West Monsoon expected to be earlier than normal

ENS @Bengaluru

THE India Meteorological Department (IMD) on Friday announced that the South West Monsoon was expected to hit the Kerala coast on May 27, with a buffer of plus or minus four days. The onset of monsoon this year is four days ahead of the onset last year. In 2021, the South West Monsoon had set in on May 31.

The official release from IMD-Delhi on Friday said, "This year, the onset of South West Monsoon over Kerala is likely to be earlier than the normal date. The monsoon onset over Kerala is likely to be on May 27, with a model error of plus or minus four days." The head office has also shared the details of the present status of the SWM which is advancing over the Andaman Sea.

According to officials, "In the Indian monsoon region, initial monsoon rain is being experienced over south Andaman Sea and the monsoon winds then advance north-westwards across the Bay of Bengal. As per the normal dates of monsoon onset or progress, SWM advances over the Andaman Sea to around May 22. In association with enhanced cross equatorial winds, conditions are becoming favorable for advance of SWM into south Andaman Sea, Nicobar Islands and some parts of Southeast Bay of Bengal by around May 15, 2022." Tibet plays an important role in complex India-China ties: Ex-diplomat

@Bengaluru

INDIA'S former foreign secretary Nirupama Rao in an interaction on her book 'The Fractured Himalaya: India, Tibet, China, 1949-1962' spoke about the Indo-China relations then and now and the influence of the 13-year period that preceded the Indo-China war in 1962 on the relations between the two neighbours with Tibet at the centre. "From the start, the India-China relationship was in fact a three-body problem, with Tibet at the geographical and diplomatic centre of the nascent relationship," said Rao. The event was organised by the Synergia Foundation - a city-based strategy think tank.

She said that following the tragic events in the Galwan Valley in 2020, the focus is back on Indo-China relations. "We need a wide-angled perspective to recall the early history of this relationship. Both India and China were very young and in the process of national consolidation and influencing our roles on the world stage. What happened in those years has quite an influence on Indo-China relations even today," said Rao.

An industry has grown about blaming Jawaharlal Nehru for everything that happened during that period. He had his flaws, but his follies cannot be textbook gospel. His decisions were made in real time
— Nirupama Rao, ex-foreign secretary

She added, "An industry has grown about blaming Jawaharlal Nehru for everything that happened during that period. He had his flaws, but his follies cannot be textbook gospel. His decisions were made in real time. India was a young country and Nehru's contribution in nation building cannot be ignored. He saw the reality of the coming of the Communists and was subconsciously worried about China's expansionism. He was concerned about safeguarding our borders. Nehru was the first person to own his failure in the China policy, which had deep linkages with the Tibetan issue. He had granted His Holiness the Dalai Lama asylum in India and Tibetans recognised him as Dharmaraj, but he focused more on building relationships with China and felt that Tibet was a lost cause," said the former diplomat. She added that there were weaknesses, mistakes but we need to understand the circumstances in which decisions were made and how they were made in real time.

Rao said India's ties with Tibet are very complex and are not only dictated by geography but by trade, pilgrimage and cultural osmosis. The presence of the Dalai Lama and his whole succession question continues to be strongly opposed by China.

She spoke at length about the people in the Himalayan region on either side of the border and about the strong cultural and trade linkages.

She said that she has been asked why a book like this is necessary at this point in time because this subject has been researched and written extensively for many years. "We fought the 1962 war, the 60th anniversary of which is coming up. There's no end to analysis of events and people involved in the era. My interpretation of that period is that of a diplomat practitioner. I studied the subject when I was in the Indian Foreign Service and I dealt with the bilateral relationships between India and China much before I was posted as Ambassador to Beijing," she said. "My aim was to provide a rational understanding of the complex relationships between India and China," said the former diplomat.

MONKEY ALERT FOR ALL STATES, FOREST DEPTS

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

OFFICIALS of Forest Department and Wildlife Crime Control Bureau (WCCB), experts and activists are on high alert to check poaching and wildlife crime cases, especially related to monkeys. This is more so after an alert in this regard was sounded by the WCCB to all states and Forest Departments. Even though forest officials and experts said no cases of transportation of live monkeys were detected, the recent incidents of the finding of monkeys in sacks could be the tip of the iceberg of such cases.

A conservationist working closely with the Forest Department said use of live animals for lab and chemical trials is a big menace and the recent deaths of Bonnet Macaques in Karnataka could be a part of it. "Live monkeys are in demand and the ill, injured or weak could have been disposed in sacks. There is also another theory that the rising man-animal conflict was the reason for the death of the monkeys. The lookout notice does ring a bell," the conservationist said.

Conservationists pointed out that in the 1990s, Beagles were used for trials and after a lot of effort it was stopped. The alert should not be ignored as a one-off as governments are working to control their population. On the other hand, cases of attacks on humans by monkeys are also being reported, especially in tourist areas, due to increasing incidents of tourists feeding them.

An official of WCCB told TNIE that the alert was sounded based on certain cases coming to light in the past. A close watch is also being kept on ports and other areas from where monkey can be transported. Border check-posts have also been kept on high alert.

"This is first time such an alert has been called for any specific species. So far, monthly and seasonal alerts are issued like poaching of owls during Diwali or pangolins and star tortoise round the year. But no special alert for monkeys was issued so far," said a senior Forest Department official.

LOWER CAPEX OR HIGHER FISCAL DEFICIT, A TOUGH CHOICE BEFORE CENTRE

Rising inflation and interest rates have knocked a one-two punch on all of us. We were barely lifting our jaws from the floor following the RBI's unexpected 40 bps policy rate hike last week, and April's headline inflation at 7.8% further confirms our worst fears of inflation averaging above the RBI's 6% target band. The only relief, if any, is that India's inflation at an eight-year high is relatively better than the 40-year and 20-year highs being seen in the US and Europe. Worryingly though, the price surge is broad-based. Food inflation may spike due to rising production costs and international crop prices, and extreme weather disruptions, while fuel and electricity prices, which remained largely unchanged in the past six months, will likely see a delayed pass-through this fiscal. Core inflation too may hit the roof as producers pass on high cost pressures to customers, even as services inflation catches up with goods inflation. Lastly, global and domestic inflation has initiated a near bloodspill on the rupee, further troubling policymakers. All expect the RBI to hike rates by at least 75 bps, taking the terminal repo rate above 5%, making real rates neutral, if not positive. But even these moves won't calm down persistent inflation, and experts caution the RBI to resist aggressive and deep rate hikes.

Even globally, the triple whammy of commodity-price shocks, supply-chain shocks and inflation are the biggest headwinds to economic recovery. And the path ahead doesn't seem rosy given the prevailing supply bottlenecks, elevated commodity prices and aggregate demand, which refuse to get better. Central banks are almost out of ammunition, hence fiscal policy must pull its weight with additional spending in lieu of anticipated food and fertiliser subsidies. But the need for such higher revenue expenditure takes out the fiscal space created by higher tax collections and challenges the government's strategy to spur growth with productive capex. It's a difficult choice between lower capex and higher fiscal deficit. Both have consequences, and it's down to the government to set the plane down softly in a storm.

DISEASE OUTBREAKS & THE NEED FOR VIGILANCE

The Covid-19 pandemic may be between waves or waning, but it has left behind lessons for the Central and the state governments to learn from. One of the most important among them is to be prepared for a disease outbreak or even another pandemic.

Hardly out of the pandemic, the Kerala government has already stepped up its surveillance of Nipah virus in all its districts, as this is the breeding season for bats, which are known to be carriers of the pathogen. Following closely in its footsteps, the Karnataka government too has instructed its health officials to strengthen vigilance in those districts that border Kerala. In May 2018, the Nipah outbreak was reported in Kozhikode; it subsequently spread to neighbouring Malappuram and claimed 16 lives. It was detected again in 2019 in Ernakulam, but no fatalities were reported, although two years later, the disease claimed the life of a 12-year-old boy in Kozhikode.

While Kerala's quick response in tightening surveillance on Nipah to prevent an outbreak is commendable, other states need to learn from this and keep their guard up. They need to implement measures to prevent an outbreak—not just of Nipah but a range of diseases that may be capable of wreaking havoc in the form of a full-blown pandemic.

Over the past two years, Covid has haunted our minds. According to official figures, the pandemic has claimed about 5.24 lakh lives in India and 62.6 lakh globally. We remain wary about a fourth wave in India although experts are playing that possibility down presently. There is the need to keep a vigilant eye on viral mutations that could be deadlier than the original. Quick response to symptoms of a disease threatening even a regional area is of the utmost importance at a time economies of the world are trying to emerge from the impact of Covid. Only by being vigilant can we prevent any more outbreaks of deadly diseases.

Civilisation has always been centred on cities. For the Kuru kingdom, one should list Asandivat, Indraprastha, etc. We do precious little about protecting their history or legacy

OUR HISTORY: WHEN MATTERS ARE UPSIDE DOWN

BIBEK DEBROY

Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM

Usually, people are more interested in the Mahabharata, compared to the Ramayana. That's probably because the Mahabharata has a broader canvas. Protagonists are more in number. The Ramayana is "Rama's progress". Rama is the central character. The Mahabharata isn't quite like that. It has many more characters, more with whom one can identify and empathise. Despite the passage of hundreds of years, those dilemmas about decisions remain universal, even today.

Events of the Mahabharata primarily occur along the west-east axis of Bharatavarsha while events of the Ramayana are primarily along the north-south axis. What area does the Mahabharata cover, geographically? It is impossible to answer that question. There is the north-western part of Bharatavarsha, there is today's Gujarat. In the east, we can go as far as Assam and Arunachal Pradesh. But the core geographical area is the Kuru-Panchala region, two of the 16 Maha Janapadas. The Kuru kingdom is the land of Parikshit and Janamejaya, straddling Delhi, Haryana, Punjab and western Uttar Pradesh. Civilisation has always been centred on cities. For the Kuru kingdom, one should list Asandivat, Indraprastha, Hastinapura and Kurukshetra. We do precious little about protecting the history or legacy of these places. Understandably, most people know of Kurukshetra and may even have visited the place, because of the Bhagavat Gita, Brahma Sarovar, Sannihit Sarovar and Jyotisar and perhaps even the 48-kos parikrama. It is also true that thanks to the Kurukshetra Development Board and International Gita Mahotsav, infrastructure in Kurukshetra has improved, attracting tourists, domestic and foreign.

Having said this, how many of us visit, or know about, the adjacent Thaneshvara or Sthaneshvara? This is where Krishna and the Pandavas worshipped Mahadeva in the form of Sthanu. There are hardly any visitors to that temple. There are many visitors to Sheikh Chilli's Tomb. It is prominent and the signage is better. No one ventures behind the tomb. Behind it are the ruins of the capital city (Harsh ka Tila) from which the mighty Harsha Vardhana ruled. I think the last excavations there were several decades ago. Ditto for Indraprastha and the other four villages (Panipat, Sonapat, Baghpat and Tilapat).

At least, most people know of Indraprastha, one of Delhi's several cities. What of Asandivat? Other than historians, I suspect few people have heard of it. It used to be the Kuru capital before Indraprastha and Hastinapura. We are familiar with Hastinapura from films, TV serials and books. This is the place from where King Dhritarashtra ruled, the place where he was seated when Sanjaya described the Kurukshetra War to him. Beyond a mound and a temple, nothing exists. The last excavations were in the 1950s. In fairness, the ASI (Archaeological Survey of India) has started excavations again, in and around the region. I am making a point about inadequate excavations, unsatisfactory dissemination of findings (except in archaeological tracts) and our collective disinterest in that history. If Hastinapura attracts tourists, that's because of the Jain temples there.

However, urban centres of the Kuru kingdom fare better than those of the Panchala kingdom.

I am somewhat surprised that people who are ostensibly interested in the Mahabharata know so little about Ahichatra and Kampilya. There is a collective disinterest in our history. Excavations have been inadequate and there has been unsatisfactory dissemination of findings (except in archaeological tracts)

SOURADIP SINHA

The latter was divided into two (after the division between Drupada and Dronacharya) and the two respective capitals were Ahichatra (in Bareilly) and Kampilya (in Farukhabad). There is precious little left in Ahichatra, or so I think. However, Kampilya is replete with history, from satya yuga, treta yuga and dvapara yuga. It used to be known as the smaller Kashi. From satya yuga, there is sage Kapila's hermitage. From treta yuga, there is the Rameshvara temple, where Rama, Sita and Lakshmana are believed to have worshipped, on their way back to Ayodhya. From dvapara yuga, this is the place where Draupadi and Dhrishtadyumna were born from the sacrifice, where Arjuna shot the arrow through the eye of the fish (in Meenpur village) and where Draupadi's svayamvara was held. Drupada's fort still exists. I am somewhat surprised that people who are ostensibly interested in the Mahabharata know so little about Ahichatra and Kampilya.

I am writing this column because I read reports about the upside-down Ganesha in the Qutb complex and went to see it, and also see what excavations had revealed about Anangpal Tomar, who founded "Lal Kot", one of Delhi's original cities. He is the one who brought the famous pillar to this complex. We can speculate about the origins of the names of Haryana and Delhi. But one inscription, now in the National Museum, states, "There is a region known as Haryana, which is like heaven on earth. The Tomars built the city, known as Dhilika, there." The iron pillar also bears the name of Dihali or Dilli. I will not get into the controversy over the 27 Jain and Hindu temples. In any event, the matter seems to be sub judice. However, there is an inscription under an arch, to the effect that materials from "27 idol temples" were used in building the masjid. If that inscription exists in Arabic (Perso-Arabic), why not give a translation, in English or Hindi? Lack of a translation suggests there is an attempt to hide history. Hiding history does not automatically lead to attempts to rectify it. It is patently obvious material from Jain and Hindu temples was used. That may mean those temples were deliberately destroyed, or that they had already been destroyed. Who is to tell? More importantly, it is difficult to mess around with an UNESCO World Heritage Site. The Ganesha is indeed upside down and will probably remain so. But, at the very least, we should be aware.

A LOOK AT THE ORIGIN OF MUGHAL PAINTINGS

SRINIVAS SISTLA

Associate Professor, Department of Fine Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam

Mughal painting, which contributed immensely to the annals of Indian art history, had become full-fledged under the patronage of King Akbar (r. 1556-1605) in the third quarter of the 16th century, and continued uninterrupted during the reign of his successors till the late 18th century. However, the foundation for the tradition was laid by Akbar's grandfather and father, Babur (r. 1525-1530) and Humayun (r. 1530-40 and 1555-1556) respectively. Both had a keen interest in painting, and interacted with many Persian masters and observed their works.

In the 15-16th centuries, in Herat (Afghanistan), Sultan Husayn Bayqara Mirza (r. 1469-1506) had patronised a number of calligraphers and painters. Besides many others, Kamal ud-Din Bihzad (c. 1450-1535), the most renowned name in the history of Persian miniature painting, was his court painter. After the Sultan's reign, Bihzad seems to have shifted to Bukhara (Uzbekistan) first, and then in 1522 to Tabriz (Iran), which was ruled by Shah Ismail I (r. 1501-1524) and his son and successor, Shah Tahmasp (r. 1524-1576).

Babur lived in Herat in 1506, and later in the Babur-nama written in Turkish, he had written about paintings done by Shah Muzaffar, who died early in life, and Bihzad. About the latter, Babur wrote, "Of the painters, one was Bihzad. His work was very dainty but he did not draw beardless faces well; he used greatly to lengthen the double chin; bearded faces he drew admirably." Babur's cousin Mirza Muhammad Haidar Dughlat (c. 1500-1551), who ruled Kashmir, had written about the Herat painters more candidly in his Persian book, the Tarikh-i-Rashidi. He said, for instance, "Abd al-Hayy is unrivalled in purity, delicacy and firmness of brush, indeed in all the characteristics of the art of painting. Then came Shah Muzaffar and Bihzad, and after these up to our own times, there has been none like them."

Humayun succeeded his father in 1530, but was dethroned in 1540 by Sher Shah Suri (fl. 1486-1545). In 1543, Humayun lived in Tabriz, and acquainted himself with many painters and their works. The most notable were Abd al-Samad (c. 1500-1593) who worked initially as a calligrapher; Mir Sayyid Ali (c. 1510-1572), the son of painter Mir Musavvir (fl. 1510-55); Mirza Ali (fl. 1525-75), the son of painter Sultan Muhammad; and, Muzaffar Ali (fl. 1540-76), the son of painter Haydar Ali and a grand-nephew of Bihzad.

In the Jawahar al-akbaar (c. 16th century) in Persian, author Budaq Monsi Qazvini mentions that Humayun had stated that if the Tabriz king "releases Mir Musavvir to me, I shall offer one thousand tumans in exchange", and adds further, "It is thus that the Mir's son, who had become better than his father, went earlier to India, and the father followed him there." In the Tadhkira-i-Humayun Wa Akbar written in Persian by Bayazid Bayat, a subordinate of Humayun, the author states that Humayun had sent a farman (royal decree) in 1546-47 from his temporary capital in Kabul (Afghanistan) to the king of Tabriz, and requested him to send the two Tabriz painters. Accordingly, Abd al-Samad and Mir Sayyid Ali, and a third, Mulla Fakhr, a bookbinder, came to Kabul and "humbly presented themselves before His Majesty, who honoured them with many favours". The author states further that in 1553, Humayun had sent some gifts to his friend, Nawab Rashid Khan of Kashghar (China), along with a letter in which he wrote, "Another (of the gifted artists with us) is the painter Abd al-Samad, the farid al-dhar (the unique of the time), the shir-in-qalam (sweet pen), who has surpassed his contemporaries."

Abd al-Samad had taught drawing and painting to Akbar and most likely to Humayun as well. In 1555, Samad and Mir Sayyid Ali came to Delhi along with Humayun, who died seven months later. Both the painters shone later on in the court of Akbar.

Humayun's step-sister, Gul-

badan Begum (c. 1523-1603), in the Humayun-nama in Persian, mentions many manuscripts and albums that were on display in a festival in Agra. According to the Tezkerh al Vakiat (Private Memoirs) in Persian written by Jouher, a trusted assistant of Humayun, a tent was placed for the ruler at Amerkote (near River Sindhu, Pakistan) and then, "...a beautiful bird flew into the tent, the doors of which were immediately closed, and the bird caught; his Majesty then took a pair of scissors and cut some of the feathers off the animal; he then sent for a painter, and had a picture taken of the bird, and afterwards ordered it to be released."

How I wish that Jouher had mentioned the painter as well as the bird by name. Nevertheless, it is extremely interesting to note that Humayun had commissioned a separate painting that shows the life story of a bird. Akbar's son, Jahangir (r. 1605-1627), surely inherited his grandfather's taste in this regard; for, under his patronage many Mughal painters produced several paintings of wild animals and birds, at times along with their caretakers. No such life studies of wild beings were known to have been commissioned by Akbar, and the bird painting done for Humayun, to the best of my knowledge, has not come to light so far.

Taliban mindset here

The Afghan rulers recently ordered women to cover their faces in public. The same mindset can be seen in many Muslim clerics from Kerala. Recently, a senior leader of Samastha Kerala Jam'iyyathul Ulema criticised organisers of an event for inviting a girl on stage, even though she was wearing a hijab. We need progressive thinkers and educationists to criticise this mindset. Otherwise, how would Muslim women progress?

Last chance for Cong

This is with reference to One slogan for

Udaipur: Carpe diem (May 13). If at the end of the meeting, the party comes out with the eternal conclusion that Sonia Gandhi would continue at the helm and status quo will persist, then the last nail on the Congress coffin would have been driven. On the other hand, if it wishes to be renewed, the party will have to elect a strong new leader. Sycophancy should have no role in it. An all-India strategy has to be evolved, taking into account the disillusionment of the party's voters. If not, one cannot blame its traditional voters for choosing the AAP or any other party.

Encroachment shocking

This is with reference to Punjab aims to free 5K acres of encroached land by May 31 (May 9). That 18,000 acres of public land in the state have been grabbed by politicians, police officers and bureaucrats, who have been enjoying the property for a long time, is shocking. What the previous government was doing is baffling. The current action occurred after a report prepared by former Supreme Court judge Justice Kuldip Singh. The apex court should look at encroachment of public land by such powerful people in other states too.

HC verdict welcome

The Madras HC ruled this week that the state government cannot appropriate temple funds for other purposes. This is welcome. The temples did not have trustees for a long time and only they can take such major decisions. Any attempt by the government to appropriate temple money should be opposed.

'Op issues reason for visa delay'

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA'S diplomatic mission in Sri Lanka has dismissed reports that it has stopped issuing visas. "The High Commission categorically denies that it or the Indian Consulates General or Assistant High Commission of India in Sri Lanka has stopped issuing visas," the High Commission tweeted.

It clarified that it has not been issuing visas for the past few days because of operational difficulties "due to the inability of our visa wing staff". Most of those working in the High Commission are locals who are facing a difficulty in reaching office and hence the

"We are striving to return our functioning to the normal levels soon and are committed to the ease of travel of Sri Lankans to India," the High Commission said.

Meanwhile, the Indian High Commissioner Gopal Baglay met PM Ranil Wickremesinghe and reaffirmed Delhi's continued cooperation to Colombo.

Embassy back to Kyiv

New Delhi: The Indian Embassy in Ukraine, which had temporarily relocated to Warsaw, is shifting back to Kyiv from May 17. Harsh Kumar Jain has recently been appointed as the ambassador of Ukraine. Right after assuming charge, he handed over 7,725 kg of humanitarian aid to Ukraine's deputy minister of health Oleksii Yaremko. After the conflict intensified around Kyiv, the Indian Embassy first relocated to Lviv but had to shift out of there and move to Warsaw on March 13 as the war spread.

NEET on May 21, no delay: SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday dismissed a plea seeking postponement of NEET-PG 2022, scheduled to be held on May 21, saying delaying it would cause hardship to over 2 lakh doctors who have registered and prepared for the test.

A bench of judges D Y Chandrachud and Surya Kant said delaying the exam would create 'chaos and uncertainty' and underscored that patient care can't suffer due to the clash of interests between those who have registered for the test and those who haven't.

The SC said a major consideration for not postponing was that it would lead to fewer resident doctors in hospitals, where there is already a shortage.

During the hearing, senior advocate P Wilson appearing for the petitioners argued that more time would help doctors to prepare and would not affect anyone. "Your lordships asked what happens to students who have prepared. Another 4 weeks will help them to prepare more," he said.

The petitioners had sought postponement of NEET-PG 22

due to the delay in NEET 2021 counselling, saying it would clash with the ensuing exam.

Appearing for the Centre, Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhat defended the current schedule stating that over 2 lakh students have registered for it, and delaying the exam would affect their work at hospitals and patient care. "What we are seeking to espouse is the rights of these doctors. Delay may have a cascading effect...", she submitted.

There are lakhs of doctors who have registered for the exam. There is a large body of students and needs for patient care cannot be ignored. Schedules will be affected resulting in chaos — SC bench

Sonia pours old vitriol on Modi, asks partymen to look within

In a blistering attack on PM, Congress president accuses him and his party of keeping the country in a state of permanent polarisation and of brutalising minorities

RAJESH ASNANI @ Udaipur

THE upshot of the first day of the Congress' three-day brainstorming meeting in Rajasthan's Udaipur — christened as Nav Sankalp Shivir — came on predictable lines. On the one hand, Sonia Gandhi was sulphurous about Bharatiya Janata Party's communal polarisation, and on the other, she asked her party leaders to look within (atmachintan) to revive Congress.

"The circumstances before the party are unprecedented. I am fully aware of the fact that extraordinary situations demand extraordinary action," said Sonia in a clear indication to the fast eroding support base of the party as evidenced in all elections across the country.

In her augural speech, she was unsparing in her severe censure of the Modi government. "The fire of hatred is taking a heavy toll on people's lives. Empty slogans, diversionary tactics and utter silence on the part of an ever-so eloquent Prime Minister are the order of the day when the healing touch is required most," said the Congress chief.

She punched holes in various assertions of the ruling BJP on good governance. "It is now painfully clear what PM Modi and his colleagues really mean by their slogan 'maximum governance, minimum government'. It means keeping the country in a permanent state of polarization, compelling our people to live in a constant state of fear and viciously targeting and often brutalizing the minorities who're an integral part of our society," she said.

The ruling dispensation was using "our society's age-old pluralities to divide us and subverting the carefully nurtured idea of unity in diversity."

She said the government's "empty slogan" meant intimidating political opponents and maligning their reputation by jailing them on flimsy pretexts and misusing investigating agencies against them.

She said the government was eroding the independence and professionalism of all institutions of democracy. "It means blatant undermining of the principles and provisions of our nation's Constitution, of its pillars of justice, liberty, equality, fraternity and secularism."

She also took potshots at attempts to "subvert" history with concerted efforts to belittle the contributions of leaders such as Jawaharlal Nehru. "There has been wholesale re-invention of history, the constant denigration of our leaders, especially Nehru, and systematic moves to distort, deny and destroy their contributions, achievements and sacrifices," said Sonia.

It means (govt's 'maximum governance minimum governance' slogan) keeping the country in a state of permanent polarisation, compelling people to live in a constant state of fear and insecurity. It means victimising, brutalising of minorities — Sonia Gandhi

BJP takes swipe, tells Cong to worry about its revival

The Congress should do 'aatma-chintan' about staying relevant rather than engaging in 'chintan' about the country which is in the safe hands of PM Narendra Modi, the BJP said. Its national media incharge Anil Baluni said Sonia should invest her energy in reviving her party.

Cong gets smarter logo but Gandhi march faux pas may get it the stick

SHAHID FARIDI @ Udaipur

THE Congress party has come up with a new logo at its three-day Nav Sankalp Shivir. The new logo, splashed on all backdrops, posters, banners and hoardings, has trendy circular strokes of saffron, green and white around the Congress' elections symbol. It is a smarter version of the staid old logo of hand over the Tricolour.

While the new logo adorned the party venue, the artistic rendering of Mahatma Gandhi's Dandi March picture used in the backdrop on dais at the main meeting hall and the media centre was a major fiasco. The Mahatma was shown holding the stick in his left hand.

A Google check of Gandhiji's Dandi March picture showed that he always held the stick in his right hand. The picture seems to have been flipped by the artist before making the sketch. This faux pas is sure to cause some embarrassment to the organisers.

Amid all the excitement over sweeping changes proposed to be made by the party in its organisational structure, this glaring mistake went unnoticed. The focus of the leaders and organisers was more on receiving the top leaders who were pouring in from all directions.

Former party president Rahul Gandhi travelled to Udaipur by an overnight Chetak Express train. Sonia took a chartered plane from Delhi and then flew from airport to venue in Naveen Jindal's helicopter.

Rahul's train journey through Rajasthan witnessed some show of strength by the two warring factions led by chief minister Ashok Gehlot and former state Congress president Sachin Pilot. While Pilot's supporters turned out in larger numbers at railway stations, Gehlot got all posters and hoardings of Pilot removed from the roads between airport and the meeting venue as well as that between Udaipur City railway station, where Rahul Gandhi disembarked, and the venue.

Rahul Gandhi was accompanied on the train by Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel, Jai Ram Ramesh, Pawan Kumar Bansal, Avinash Pandey, Devendra Yadav, Bhanwar Jitender Singh, Deepender Hooda, Gaurav Gogoi, Dr Ajay Kumar, B V Srinivas, Sandeep Singh, Netta D'Souza, Krishna Tirath, Subodhkant Sahai, Capt Praveen Davar and others. Sonia Gandhi was accompanied by Ambika Soni.

Amid Sonia's 'atmachintan' call, Hardik absent at camp

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

HARDIK Patel continues to sulk even as Congress' Chintan Shivir began in Udaipur on Friday. The Gujarat Patidar leader and the party's Gujarat working president refused to join the high-profile conclave where Sonia Gandhi made a fervent appeal to party leaders to first do 'atmachintan' (self-analysis).

A source close to Hardik sought to explain away his no-show at Udaipur by citing a meeting due between "old leaders of the Patidar agitation movement and Hardik Patel" in the next couple of days. Naresh Patel, another community leader in demand, was also supposed to attend the meeting. Hardik is likely to announce a "big decision" after the meeting, the source said.

Hardik was among 18 leaders from Gujarat invited to the Udaipur 'Chintan Shivir'.

At his May 10 Dahod tribal rally, Rahul Gandhi had a brief conversation with Hardik, which prompted the maverick leader to show his milder side. "Everything is expected to be fine after the Chintan Shivir," Hardik told the media on Thursday.

"Everyone invited by the party has left for Udaipur. I do not know whether Hardik Patel was an invitee," said Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi.

'50 below 50' formula to give Cong a young profile

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

WITH the Grand Old Party all set to adopt the '50 below 50' formula to shed its geriatric image and make it a younger, energetic political force rearing to take on the rivals, a major overhaul of the Congress Working Committee (CWC) and other organisational bodies, is in the offing. The present average age of the CWC members is 68 years, with not even one leader below 50.

The CWC, the party's highest decision-making body headed by Sonia Gandhi, has at present 55 members — 21 main members, 25 permanent invitees and 9 special invitees. Among the main members, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, 50, is the youngest while Manmohan Singh, 89, is the oldest. None of the nine general secretaries fall in the below-50 bracket.

The proposal to give 50 per cent representation in the party organisation — from block level to the CWC — comes as many of the party's youth leaders who were once close to Rahul Gandhi have jumped ship for better future prospects. The prominent ones include Sushmita Dev, Jitin Prasad, Jyotiraditya Scindia and Pradyot Deb Barman, among others. During his tenure as party chief from December 2017 to August 2019, Rahul had inducted these leaders into various committees to ensure the party gets a younger profile.

Among the 25 permanent invitees to the CWC, only Lok Sabha MP Manickam Tagore is (47) below 50. Of the nine special invitees, three fall in that bracket — Deepender Hooda, Neeraj Kundan and BV Srinivas. The party's five-member Central Election Authority has only Kerala MP S Jothimani (47) below 50 while the manifesto committee has for MP Meenakshi Natarajan (48) in that age-bracket.

In various AICC committees, Sachin Pilot (44), Milind Deora (45), Parveen Chakravarty (49), Jaiveer Shergill (38) and Rohan Gupta (44) are the ones who meet the new age criteria.

Ancient science part of engineering textbook

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INTRODUCTION to Vedas, Puranas, Sanskrit and ancient science, engineering, astronomy, town planning and architecture will now be part of a new textbook for engineering and science students taking a mandatory non-credit course on Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS).

The textbook, slated to be released on Monday by Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan, is part of the Centre's plan to roll out the new higher education curriculum that stresses IKS as per the National Education Policy (NEP) recommendations.

The new textbook follows the introduction of a mandatory non-credit course on IKS announced by the All India Council for Technical Education in 2018. The course was launched, but it was felt that there were no "authentic and well-researched" textbooks available on IKS.

IIM-Bangalore developed the IKS curriculum and prepared the textbook in association with SVYASA Yoga Institute, Bengaluru, and Chinmaya Vishwa Vidyapeeth, Ernakulam.

A panel of experts vetted the textbook, Introduction to Indian Knowledge System: Concepts and Applications, written by B Mahadevan, professor at IIM Bangalore and founding vice-chancellor of Chinmaya Vishwa Vidyapeeth (University for Sanskrit and Indic Traditions).

The 417-page English textbook will cost ₹795. There are also plans to get it translated into Hindi soon.

Model found dead in flat, husband says she hanged from window grill

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kozhikode

MODEL-cum-actor Shahana B K, 20, daughter of Althaf and Umaiba and a native of Cheruvathur in Kasaragod, was found dead in her flat in Kozhikode. As per her husband, Sajjad Rasheed, 31, a native of Kakkodi, his wife's body was found hanging from a window grill at their rented flat in Parambil Bazar around midnight on Thursday.

Neighbours saw Shahana lying on Sajjad's lap when they rushed to the house after hearing him screaming in panic. The Chevayur police have registered a case of unnatural death. Sajjad has been taken into police custody and is being questioned. The inquest procedures were led by the Kozhikode revenue divisional officer.

Sajjad and Shahana got married on December 3, 2020. Sajjad was working in Qatar. After marriage, Shahana became active in modelling and also acted in a Tamil film titled 'Lockdown', which is yet to be released, and several commercials.

As Shahana began to earn, her husband refused to return to work. Shahana's mother, Umaiba, alleged that the couple had fights over spending Shahana's income. She said her daughter had once run away from her flat in Parambil Bazar to the police station to lodge a complaint after her husband harassed her a few days ago. "At that time, Sajjad's friends chased Shahana in a vehicle and brought her back saying that everything could be solved. There had been similar incidents earlier too. They shifted to the rented house due to the torture of Sajjad's parents," said Umaiba.

The police are investigating the domestic violence and murder possibilities after getting information about frequent arguments and fights between the husband and wife. A plastic rope was found tied to the window of Shahana's room. She was 163cm tall and the rope was found tied to the window at almost the same height. This has made the police doubt whether hers was a suicide as claimed by Sajjad. There were strangulation marks around her neck.

"The couple were staying in different rented houses in the last few months. The neighbours said the couple used to have fights frequently," said Medical College ACP Sudersan K.

5 held for Punjab blast, lens on ISI-Babbar Khalsa nexus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

FIVE people were arrested in connection with the RPG attack at its intelligence headquarters in Mohali, the Punjab Police said on Friday, adding that the act was carried out by a nexus of militant outfit Babbar Khalsa International, Pakistan spy agency ISI and gangsters.

At a press conference, Director General of Police V K Bhawra said a sixth accused is in police custody in a separate case. "In addition, two people — Mohd Nasim Alam and Mohd Sharaf Raj — have been brought for questioning from Noida. They originally hail from Bihar. We have not arrested them yet and they are being questioned."

The five arrested people were identified as Jagdeep Singh Kang, Baljit Kaur alias Sukhi, Baljinder Singh alias Rambo, Kanwarjit Singh alias Kanwar

Bath and Anant Deep Singh alias Sonu.

Bhawra said the role of Babbar Khalsa International (BKI) and gangsters at the behest of the ISI has come to the fore. "The key conspirator who organised all logistics is Tarn Taran resident Lakhbir Singh, alias Landa, who used to be a gangster and had shifted to Canada in 2017," the DGP said. "He is a close associate of gangster-turned-terrorist Harvinder Singh Rinda, who operates from Pakistan."

Landa provided the RPG, AK-47 and the local network of criminals for logistic support to carry out the attack, the Punjab Police chief said, adding that the three suspects who carried out the attack were still on the run.

Tarn Taran resident Nishan Singh, an accused in the case, is already under the custody of the Faridkot police in some other case, the DGP said. "He will be arrested in this case too."

Mass resignation if safety not assured: Pandits warn

Flay targeted attacks by militants, seek relocation to safe places

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

OUTRAGE over the killing of a fellow colleague spilled on to the roads on Friday in Jammu and Kashmir, with Kashmiri Pandit government staff staging protests and threatening mass resignations if they were not relocated to safer places.

Protests were reported from Ghanta Ghar, Lal Chowk (Srinagar), Vessu, Anantnag (south Kashmir), Sheikhpora Budgam (central Kashmir) and Roop Nagar, Bantala and some other areas in Jammu.

Police fired tear gas shells to disperse the agitating government staff who were marching towards the Srinagar airport after they were unable to meet Lt Governor Manoj Sinha. The L-G's office tweeted that Sinha met the relatives of slain KP government employee Rahul Bhat and assured justice to his family. Defending its action, police said there were inputs that militants might attack protesters to create communal tension.

Chanting anti-government slogans, the protesters at Sheikhpora Budgam said they were not feeling safe in view of the ongoing targeted attacks on Kashmir Pandits for the last one year. "It (government) forced our youth to serve in the Valley under the PM's job package. If the government was serious, it could have allotted jobs in central government. Two Pak militants involved in the killing shot dead

The two Pakistani militants killed in an encounter with security forces in Bandipora on Friday were present at Chadoora in central Kashmir's Budgam district on Thursday, confirming their involvement in the killing of Kashmiri Pandit employee Rahul Bhat. Police said the two militants, identified as Faisal alias Sikander alias Mohsin and Ukasha, were killed in an encounter at Brar Aragam area of Bandipora. IGP Kashmir confirmed the involvement of the two slain militants, who had recently escaped during an encounter and whose presence was technically confirmed at Chadoora on Thursday, in the killing.

The All PM Package Employees Forum, an outfit of Pandit employees, reportedly sent an en masse resignation letter to the L-G, the MHA and the PMO. A letter with names and signatures of over 300 migrant Pandit employees has gone viral on social media.

The J&K administration, however, said no such letter was received from the migrant employees. In related developments, the J&K administration announced to constitute a SIT to probe all the aspects of the Kashmiri Pandit killing. It decided to give government job to Bhat's widow in Jammu and financial assistance, as well as bear the educational expenses of Bhat's daughter.

Notices to Centre, EC over J&K delimitation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday sought response from the Centre, Jammu & Kashmir administration and the Election Commission of India on a writ petition challenging the government notifications for the delimitation of Assembly and Lok Sabha constituencies in the Union Territory of Jammu and Kashmir.

The court will now hear the matter on August 30.

The counsel said that as per the delimitation order, it is the Election Commission that is empowered to do any changes.

During the course of the hearing, the court objected to certain statements made by the counsel and told him to choose his words properly and said that "Kashmir was always part of India and just a special provision was removed".

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta said that delimitation can be conducted only by EC and not the delimitation commission.

The plea raises questions as to the delimitation in J&K when article 170 of the Constitution provided that the next delimitation in India will be taken up after 2026. "Issuance of notification by the Law and Legislative Department appointing the Delimitation Commission is unconstitutional and ultra vires to the election laws," the petition contended.

Gyanvapi survey: No interim order, SC will consider listing plea

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

@ New Delhi

DECLINING to issue any interim status quo on the survey of Gyanvapi mosque premises in Varanasi, the Supreme Court on Friday said that it would examine and consider listing the plea challenging the procedure.

The plea was orally mentioned before the bench headed by Chief Justice of India NV Ramana by senior advocate Hufeza Ahmadi for Anjuman Intezamia Masajid Committee that manages the Gyanvapi mosque.

He requested for status quo to be maintained with respect to the survey, and added that the matter needed to be listed soon as the survey was taking place. "...This is covered by Places of Worship Act. Now the court has ordered Commissioner to conduct a survey," Ahmadi said.

However, the CJI said the bench hasn't seen any related documents. "...We don't even know what the matter is... How can I pass an order... Let me see... Will list it," the CJI said further.

The court said it would need to see and examine all the files, and would list the plea.

In a petition filed by five Hindu women seeking access and right to worship at the western wall of the mosque complex, a local court in Varanasi had ordered an inspection of the premises through advocate commis-

Remaining survey to begin today morning

Lucknow: With the SC declining to pass any immediate order on the survey of Gyanvapi mosque premises, the local court-appointed commission is set to commence the remaining part of the survey from Saturday. Meanwhile, the Varanasi district administration on Friday convened a meeting of both parties involved in the litigation sioner Ajay Kumar Mishra. The local court on May 12 had refused Anjuman Islamia Masajid Committee's plea to replace Mishra.

The court had further appointed Vishal Singh and Ajay Pratap Singh to assist Ajay Kumar in the survey. The local court order has also asked for the survey report by the commissioner to be submitted by May 17.

Naga-Delhi talks led by outfit's former 'General'

CHANDAN NANDY @ New Delhi

LED by its former 'General' V S Atem, the National Socialist Council of Nagaland (Isak-Muivah) has been engaged in discussions here with the Centre's interlocutor to break the logjam over the Naga rebel group's two contentious demands — recognition for a separate flag and a constitution.

This is the first time that NSCN(IM) general secretary Thuingaleng Muivah has not led the ongoing talks, reportedly owing to "ill health". Sources said that "not much should be read" in Muivah's non-arrival, as "his health is not quite sound".

The first meeting on Thursday was "inconclusive". Friday's parleys also dragged on even as interlocutor A K Mishra sought to have a deeper understanding of the NSCN(IM)'s insistence on the two issues.

CONG, BSP MAY DRAW BLANK IN UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

WITH the Election Commission scheduling biennial election for 57 seats of Rajya Sabha on June 10, the focus would be on UP which will be sending 11 new members to the Upper House.

As the BJP has returned to power in the state with 273 seats and Samajwadi Party and its allies have emerged as the largest opposition with 125 seats, there are only two clear claimants to the RS seats. Both BSP and Congress are set to draw a blank owing to their dismal presence.

As per the numbers, the BJP would stake claim to at least eight of the 11 seats, while Samajwadi Party would comfortably bag three.

The BJP will require at least 298.64 votes to win eight seats. It is sure to win seven and is 26 votes short of winning the eighth seat as it has 273 votes. So, the second preference vote will also come into play if the SP, which is sure to win three with 109.91 votes, fields a candidate to stake claim for the fourth. This will lead to voting. This means that while the BJP would require 26 votes, SP would have 15.36 additional votes and would need 21.53 votes to bag the fourth seat.

However, the victory of SP on fourth seat would depend much on how disgruntled MLAs like Shival Yadav, Azam Khan and his son Abdullah Azam Khan would vote.

RS POLLS

One seat to be bone of contention in Maharashtra

Mumbai: The election for six vacant Rajya Sabha seats from Maharashtra is likely to witness intense politicking. As per the strength of each party, ruling alliance partners Shiv Sena, NCP and Congress will be able to elect one nominee each, while the saffron camp will be able to send just two members against the earlier three. The bone of contention will be the remaining seat. Both ruling and opposition camps will need the support of independents and smaller parties to win the seat. Meanwhile, former RS MP Sambhaji Maharaj is desperate to return to the Upper House unopposed and has already declared his candidature. ENS

Nitish could see his number falling further

Patna: Janata Dal (United) is likely to suffer the loss of one seat in Rajya Sabha when polls are held for five vacant seats from Bihar. As the number of JD-U MLAs has come down to 45 after the 2020 Assembly poll, the party can send only one member to the Upper House. Earlier, the party had two members. It is speculated that a former IPS officer is vying for the seat on JD-U nomination. Even the name of party leader K C Tyagi is doing the rounds but he has made it clear that he is not aware of it. A senior party leader said a family member of Mahendra Prasad could be the party's candidate for the Rajya Sabha seat. ENS

2-1 SCORE LIKELY IN MP MATCH

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE ruling BJP could win two seats leaving one seat for opposition Congress in the biennial poll to three Rajya Sabha seats from Madhya Pradesh.

Given the current numbers in the 230-strong Vidhan Sabha — BJP and Congress having 127 and 96 members respectively — the ruling camp will bag two seats and the Opposition one seat.

According to BJP sources in the state, the saffron party is likely to follow the old formula of having one of the candidates from outside MP and the other one from the state. The sources added that Union minister and BJP's present leader in the Upper House, Piyush Goyal is likely to be fielded from one seat. It remains to be seen whether an OBC or an SC/ST leader is fielded on the other seat.

While former MP minister and present BJP SC Mocha national president Lal Singh Arya, who had lost the 2018 Assembly polls, is the frontrunner in case a SC politician is fielded, the name of state party general secretary Kavita Patidar is in the reckoning if an OBC politician gets the nod.

Meanwhile, Congress high command is most likely to go again with incumbent MP and legal eagle Vivek Tankha. If at all, the party decides to field an OBC candidate, former state Congress chief and former Union minister Arun Yadav could be a front-runner.

Punjab farmers announce Delhi-like stir against AAP govt from May 17

HARPREET BAIWA @ Chandigarh

A showdown between Punjab farmers and the state's AAP government appears imminent. The farmers have rejected a government proposal to stagger paddy transplantation and adopt the direct seeding of rice (DSR) technique to avoid power crisis.

The farmers have also rejected the government's power supply schedule for the upcoming paddy-sowing season, insisting that they would start the plantation from June 10.

The Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) has announced an indefinite Delhi-like agitation against the state government in Chandigarh from May 17.

The farmers' tough stance was apparent in a recent meeting of 23 farmer unions in Ludhiana. Senior SKM leader and BKU (Lakhnow) general secretary Harinder Singh Lakhnowal said the farmer representatives

Previous meeting failed to break the ice

Farmer leaders say the government has still not yet given a guarantee on the MSP of alternative crops. A few days back, a meeting involving the unions, Power Minister Harbhajan Singh and State Power Corporation CMD had failed to break the deadlock had met CM Bhagwant Mann on April 17.

"The government had assured them of a bonus of ₹500 per quintal on wheat, an MSP on maize and basmati. We had given a month's time to the government to meet our demands. Since nothing has happened, we will now start an indefinite Delhi-like agitation in Chandigarh," said Lakhnowal. "A tractor-trailer march will mark the beginning," he said.

Bhartiya Kisan Union (Ekta Ugrahan) president Joginder Singh Ugrahan said the state government should call a meeting with the farmers before finalising dates for paddy transplantation.

The state government, for the first time, decided to stagger the paddy transplantation in four phases starting from June 18. To save power during the peak summers, the state has been divided into four zones for sowing the crop.

BKU (Ekta Ugrahan) general secretary Sukhdev Singh Kokrikalan said it was wrong to blame only the farmers for the falling underground water levels. "The government must remember that before the Green Revolution, paddy was never a Punjab-centric crop. The government aid of ₹1,500 for direct seed plantation of paddy was not enough. The government needs to raise the aid to at least ₹10,000 per acre to cover farmers' risks," said Kokrikalan.

3 IAF men get life term in 1995 murder case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THREE persons, including a former squadron leader, were sentenced to life imprisonment on Friday by a CBI special judge in Ahmedabad for their involvement in the murder of an Air Force cook in Jamnagar in 1995.

According to a CBI press release, former squadron leader Anoop Sood and two sergeants, Anil K N and Mahendra Singh Sherawat, will undergo life imprisonment for murdering Girja Rawat. The CBI registered a case in 2012, in pursuance of a Gujarat High Court order, in a special criminal application filed by Rawat's widow.

The prosecution case is that on November 13, 1995, around 10 IAF officials, including Sood, conducted searches at Rawat's residence. They took him away and pressured him to confess he had stolen liquor from the canteen. The accused tortured Rawat, causing his death.

Three other accused were acquitted while one person passed away during the trial.

POACHERS sawed off the horn of a sub-adult rhino without killing the pachyderm in Assam, leaving forest officials and wildlife experts worried about how the operation was carried out for the first time in India.

Usually, poachers kill rhinos with firearms before hacking off or sawing off the horn but the operation is risky as the sound of gunshots alert forest guards. While there is no dispute that the rhino was made unconscious, nobody has a definite answer as to how the poachers did it. The incident came to light at Orang National Park where the sub-adult rhino was seen with a bleeding nose.

Veterinarian Kushal Konwar Sharma ruled out that the animal was tranquilised using the conventional method. "There is only one source in South Africa which manufactures the drug to tranquilise rhinos. But to buy it, we need to go through a number of government agencies. So, I feel it is nearly impossible that people who are not in government can buy it," the Padma Shri awardee said.

It is extremely difficult to tranquilise a rhino given its aggression, he said, adding the drug meant for tranquilising other animals cannot be used on rhinos. "We perch atop an elephant but are still chased by rhinos. I have conducted on-foot tranquilisation too but with all the facilities that we have at our disposal."

He ruled out leakage from the Guwahati zoo, the only place in the Northeast where the drug is kept. "It is in the safe custody of the zoo director, who is answerable to the Centre."

Sharma said it would be very difficult to conclude how the rhino was tamed and added that there could be various possibilities with one being electric shock. "An enquiry will be conducted. So let's wait for the report although I am not sure if it can unravel the truth."

Considered an aphrodisiac, the rhino horn is much in demand in Southeast Asia with prices going up to ₹5 crore apiece.

The IPS officers in the rank of IG and SSP were stripped of field posting and shunted to the headquarters. The IAS officer of Tripura cadre, who was on deputation in Bihar for the latter being his native state, was sent to his parent cadre. Bureaucratic circles are agog with the news that CM Nitish Kumar has approved a probe against the officer. The IAS officer is said to have issued a large number of arms licenses in gross violation of the prescribed norms while serving as a district magistrate while the IPS officers were stated to be hands in glove with sand mining mafia.

Ohatkar serving as DG Fire Services said it was not the first time that local police officers reached accident spots late. As a result, fire personnel had to face hardship in dealing with the crowd. The multi-storey building houses different departments, including the road construction department, which was in the news after an under construction bridge collapsed. Later, the government ordered electric safety audit of all buildings above 15-metre height in Patna.

Maruti Suzuki to invest ₹11K crore in Haryana facility

Existing plants at Gurugram and Manesar have capacity of 15,80,000 units, while Gujarat plant has 5,00,000 units capacity per annum

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) is investing ₹11,000 cr in the first phase to set up a new manufacturing facility in Haryana.

The carmaker on Friday said that it has completed the process of allotment of an 800 acres site in Sonapat.

The new facility, which will have capacity of 250,000 vehicles per annum, is expected to be commissioned by 2025, subject to government approvals.

Currently, MSIL's two existing plants at Gurugram and Manesar in the state have a combined capacity of 15, 80,000 units, while the plant in Gujarat has 5,00,000 units capacity per annum. Together, the facilities churn nearly 1,73,000 units a month.

The fresh investment comes at a time when its lions share in the Indian passenger vehicle (PV) market has seen a steady fall over the past two years. While during the pre-covid years it used to sell one in over two PVs sold in India, its market share stood at 43.65% in FY2022, its lowest in 8 years. The fall in sales is attributed to growing preference for SUVs and smaller hatchbacks becoming expensive for its target audience. Further, a global shortage of semiconductors has severely impacted production at MSIL, with the carmaker in its Q4FY22 results saying that it had a pending order of 2,68,000 units by the end of March 2022.

This investment announcement comes months after its parent company - Japan's Suzuki Motor (SMC) - had signed a memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the Gujarat government to invest 150bn yen (₹10,440 cr) for local manufacturing of electric vehicles (EV) and EV batteries, a space where Maruti Suzuki's competitors have taken an edge.

Under the MoU, Suzuki Motor's wholly-owned Suzuki Motor Gujarat (SMG) will invest ₹7,300 cr for construction of battery plant near SMG's automobile unit by 2026. SMG will invest another ₹3,100 cr for ramping up capacity for EVs by 2025. In recent times, a number of carmakers like Toyota and MG Motor have announced big investments in India. This has helped the government to counter the sharp criticism it has been facing after half a dozen automakers shut their operations in India during the past six years or so.

Swiggy acquires restaurant tech platform Dineout for $200 million

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

FOOD delivery giant Swiggy on Friday said it has signed an agreement with Times Internet to acquire Dineout, a popular dining out and restaurant tech platform.

According to sources familiar with the development, the deal is valued at about $200 million.

Swiggy said it will double down on the synergies with Dineout's offerings, including dining out table reservations and events. Post the acquisition, Dineout will continue to operate as an independent app. Sriharsha Majety, CEO of Swiggy, said the acquisition will allow the food delivery platform to explore synergies and offer new experiences in a high-use category.

Dineout has a network of over 50,000 restaurant partners in 20 cities. Founders Ankit Mehrotra, Nikhil Bakshi, Sahil Jain and Vivek Kapoor will join Swiggy once the acquisition is completed.

"At Dineout, we always wanted to revolutionise the restaurant industry and this acquisition is an accelerating step toward the same goal. Our joint forces will help provide a holistic platform in this industry," said Ankit Mehrotra, co-founder & CEO, Dineout.

In the last 20 months, Swiggy has strengthened its food delivery business, expanded Instamart, its quick commerce grocery delivery to 28 cities. It has recently commenced drone trials for Instamart.

SOLID Q1 GDP HERALDS MORE POLICY TIGHTENING

Malaysia's economic growth picked up pace in the first quarter and was likely to accelerate further this year amid sustained demand and the reopening of international borders, the central bank said on Friday. Gross domestic product rose 5% in the January-March period, faster than the 4% expansion forecast by a Reuters poll and up from 3.6% growth in the previous quarter. Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) said it had factored in global supply chain disruptions, the Russia-Ukraine war and strict lockdowns in China to stem the COVID-19 outbreak in its growth projections for 2022. "Although the downside risks have risen on the global front, we are confident of our growth trajectory and we do not see a risk of any recession in Malaysia," she told a news conference. The central bank said in presentation slides that growth would expand further. "In 2022, growth will be supported by continued expansion in global and domestic demand." BNM kept its 2022 economic growth forecast at between 5.3%-6.3%, which it had downgraded in March. Expansion was mainly driven by the services and manufacturing sectors, particularly continuing demand for semiconductors and consumer products such as motor vehicles, BNM said.

HONG KONG'S Q1 GDP SHRINKS 4% Y/Y

Hong Kong's economy shrank 4 per cent in the first quarter from the same period a year earlier, government data showed on Friday, ending four quarters of recovery as the city imposed its most stringent measures to curb an outbreak of COVID-19. The data compares with a growth of 4.7 per cent in the fourth quarter. On a quarterly basis, the economy contracted by a revised seasonally adjusted 3 per cent for the January-March period. Hong Kong's borders have essentially been closed since early 2020, with few flights landing and hotel quarantine for arrivals dampening demand, as the city follows mainland China in implementing a "dynamic zero" coronavirus strategy that aims to curb all outbreaks. "Timing of re-opening of border will hinge crucially on the COVID situation in both China and Hong Kong," said Samuel Tse, an economist at DBS Bank. "Our most optimistic assumption is that it will gradually reopen around end 3Q-mid 4Q." On a quarterly basis, the economy shrank by a seasonally adjusted 2.9% in January-March. Hong Kong's economy is expected to grow 2.0% to 3.5% this year after expanding 6.4% in 2021, with underlying inflation at 2%. Hong Kong allowed non-residents to enter the financial hub from May for the first time in more than two years as the number of daily COVID-19 infections fell, a small step in unwinding stringent restrictions which have turned the city into one of the world's most isolated places.

THAILAND

THAILAND'S ECONOMY LIKELY GREW MODESTLY IN Q1

Thailand's economy likely grew modestly in the first quarter, thanks to robust exports and an easing of COVID-19 restrictions and despite low tourist arrivals and high inflation dampening consumer spending, a Reuters poll found. Southeast Asia's second-largest economy is estimated to have expanded 2.1 per cent in the January-March period compared with the same period a year earlier, according to a May 6-13 poll of 15 economists. It showed annual growth of 1.9 per cent in the previous quarter. First-quarter gross domestic product (GDP) was estimated to have been 0.9 per cent higher than in the previous quarter, according to a smaller sample of forecasts. That would be half of the quarterly growth of 1.8 per cent in the fourth quarter of 2021. Estimates of the latest quarterly change ranged from a 0.8 per cent contraction to 1.7 per cent growth, highlighting the uncertainties surrounding the recovery of the economy from the pandemic. The data is due to be released on May 17. Inflation has remained above the Bank of Thailand's upper limit of 3 per cent so far this year and is expected to remain there until the end of the year, according to a separate Reuters poll.

Exports rise by 30% in April, trade deficit widens by 31.5%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S merchandise exports grew more than 30% in April on a year-on-year basis on the back of improved performance in petroleum products, electronic goods, cereals, coffee, processed food and leather products, as per the data released by the Ministry of Commerce.

Services also fared well and grew 50% on-year.

Overall exports - merchandise and services combined in April - registered a growth of 38.90%, at $67.79 bn. Imports in the same month stood at $75.87 bn, exhibiting a positive growth of 36.31% over the same period last year; as per the government estimates. Meanwhile, the merchandise trade deficit widened by 31.5% in April, estimated at $20.11 bn as compared to $15.29 bn in April 2021.

EDIBLE OIL

Vegetable oil imports fall 13% in April

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

IMPORTS of vegetable oils, comprising edible and non-edible, have fallen 13% to nearly 9.12 lakh tonne during April, shows industry data. The Solvent Extractors' Association of India (SEA) said the import of vegetable oils is reported at 9,11,846 tonne in April 2022, compared to 10,53,347 tonne in April 2021.

During November '21 to April '22 nearly 11.10 lakh tonne of sunflower oil imported by India, mainly from Ukraine, Russia and Argentina, the association said adding that as Ukraine has banned export of sunflower oil, its import in April stood at 54,426 tons only.

As it is a key ingredient for food processing industries, it is expected to further escalate cost of products and impact margins of consumer companies. For consumers, they may have to bear the brunt of ever-rising price hikes of several goods like biscuits, noodles, soaps, among others.

"High prices of sunflower oil in the international market and lesser availability and high domestic prices has shrunk the demand and consumption of sunflower oil in India," SEA said.

Indonesia has also banned export of palm oil from 28th April 2022, which says the association, has queered the pitch and make life difficult for hapless consumer across the world.

India imports about 6,00,000, 6,50,000 tonnes of palm oil per month from Indonesia, Malaysia and Thailand and other countries.

Recently, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has said that India is exploring new markets to import edible oil amid disruption in supplies from Ukraine and Indonesia. The two countries account for about 65% of India's total annual edible oil imports.

The average retail price of sunflower oil has gone up 3.4% to ₹192.22/kg as of May 13 from a month-ago price of ₹185.84 and the price of palm oil has increased 4.97% to ₹158.98 from ₹151.45 a month back, according to government data.

Adani Green loses place in top 10 valuable firms' list

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

ADANI Green Energy has lost its spot in the coveted list of India's top 10 most valuable listed companies.

Based on the company's market capitalisation on Friday, Adani Green was positioned at the 11th place, lower than big bankers - Kotak Mahindra (10th), HDFC (9th), SBI (8th) and ICICI Bank (6th).

On Friday, Adani Green Energy's m-cap came down to ₹3,39,656.98 crore following a near 11% drop in its share prices. The stock ended Friday's session at ₹2171.70 as against its 52-week high ₹3,048. It was only last week when Adani Green Energy was at 7th spot in the most valuable listed company list. However, amid weak market sentiment, the stock has fallen by over 21% in the last five sessions.

Not only Adani Green, other Adani stocks also fell. The market cap of Adani Wilmar and Adani Power slipped below ₹1 lakh cr, while Adani Ports shares have plummeted nearly 11% in the last 5 sessions.

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

SBI, the country's largest bank, posted its highest-ever quarterly profit at ₹9,114 crore, a 41% yoy growth, in Q4 on the back of higher net interest income, which grew 15.3% year-on-year to ₹31,198 crore. However, both numbers missed Street estimates, dragging down the stock almost 5% to ₹440.5 at closing. Domestic net interest margin (NIM), a key profitability measure, grew 29 bps on-year but was flat sequentially. Operating profit grew just 0.08% year-on-year but rose 6.45% sequentially to ₹19,717 crore.

The figure that stood out was the 11% loan growth to ₹28.19 lakh crore in Q4 from the year ago quarter, driven by retail personal loans (15.11% yoy) and foreign office advances (15.42% yoy). Home loans, nearly 23% of the bank's domestic advances grew by 11.54%. "We should continue to see the loan growth we have in the past both in corporate and retail," said Dinesh Khara, chairman, SBI.

Deposits grew 10% to ₹40.51 lakh crore with low cost or CASA deposits up 7.78% at ₹17.75 lakh crore. Loan loss provisions at ₹3,262 crore were down 67% yoy but up 5% sequentially. Asset quality improved with gross non-performing asset ratio declining 101 basis points (1.01 percentage) yoy and 53 bps sequentially to 3.97%. The net non-performing asset ratio declined 24% yoy and 19% sequentially to 1.02%.

On the growth in NIM amid a turning interest rate cycle, Khara said the bank would be impacted positively as nearly 75% of its loan book was linked to the MCLR and external benchmarks like the repo rate.

"The lending rate would rise first as they are linked to MCLR and EBLR and the deposit rate would move up with a lag, benefiting in terms of NIMs."

Vodafone Idea adds 0.2 mn active users in March 2022, after four-year hiatus

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AFTER four-year hiatus, the loss-making Vodafone Idea (VIL) added 0.2 million active users in March 2022.

This is the first-time, after merger with Idea Cellular, the telco increased its active subscriber-base.

"VIL saw an active subscribers net addition of 0.2 mn, first positive net addition in a month post-merger," said ICICI Securities in a note.

VIL, in its fourth quarter result (FY2021-22) reported narrowing its year-on-year loss to ₹6,563 crore. Its revenue grew by 5.4% quarterly to ₹10,240 crore, supported by tariff hikes effective Nov 25, 2021. The company said its average daily revenue (ARPU) rose by 7.7% quarter-on-quarter, highest quarterly rise since merger.

However, experts believe that to ensure survival, the company needs to raise capital as early as possible. "The company needs to raise capital as early as possible to stay competitive. Subscriber churn also needs to be controlled, while the network spends lag vis-a-vis peers. We seek management commentary on fund raising," commented ICICI securities on its result.

Even Sunil Bharti Mittal, chairman of Bharti Airtel, questioned VIL's ability to raise fund. Mittal, while addressing CII summit, said, "Pardon me for saying this, Vodafone Idea, for the last two years, saying we are going to raise money, nothing has come through. Therefore, it is the credibility of an organisation, individual, or promoters that count."

Meanwhile, VIL today announced that it has demonstrated a peak download speed of 5.92 Gbps during the ongoing 5G trials.

MEN SHOW MIGHT IN THOMAS CUP

Kidambi Srikanth after defeating Anders Antonsen in the Thomas Cup semifinals in Bangkok on Friday | AP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

HS PRANNOY had helped India over the line in the all-important fifth rubber against Leong Jun Hao, helping India seal a 3-2 victory over Malaysia, on Thursday. That final outcome was monumental as it meant the men would feature in the semifinals of the Thomas Cup for the first time since 1979.

Lakshya Sen had lost the opening rubber on the day. Satwajit Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty had brought the team on level terms. Kidambi Srikanth had won his tie to hand the lead while Krishna Prasad Garaga and Vishnuvardhan Goud had lost their doubles before Pran- noy's winning touch.

Twenty-four hours later, Pran- noy found himself in a critical stage yet again. Playing against Denmark, the script had remained the same like against Malaysia. With the contest locked at 2-2, the pressure was on Pran- noy to step up again and etch his name in the history books.

And he did just that, pulling off another magical performance against Rasmus Gemke. Once Pran- noy hit the winning point, the other Indian players, waving the tricolour, marched into the court to hug Pran- noy, who seemed surprisingly tranquil after his improbable comeback.

The victory had come after some major concerns for the Indian camp in the early stages of the decider. Pran- noy suffered a slip in the early stage of the match (it seemed like he had done some damage to his ankle). He soldiered on but Gemke always seemed to be in control of the proceedings and went on to pocket the game. After the setback, Pran- noy returned with different vigour, displaying his full repertoire of skills, and showing no signs of distress on his ankle. The final game was the same as Gemke seemed to have run out of ideas. Pran- noy, clearly upbeat, seemed to have an answer for everything that was thrown at him. In the end, the Indian was too strong for the helpless Dane, sealing yet another historic win for India with a 13-21, 21-9, 21-12 victory. India will now take on Indonesia for the top prize on Sunday.

Earlier, Axelsen showed why he's still one of the players to beat by bossing the opening rubber against Lakshya, helping Denmark off to a perfect start. With the team trailing 0-1, it was imperative for doubles duo Satwajit Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty to win their tie. And they did just that, posting a 21-18, 21-23, 22-20 win, in a marathon encounter that lasted 78 minutes against Kim Astrup and Mathias Christiansen.

Srikanth, who has been on song in the event, put India in front with a fighting victory (21-18, 12-21, 21-15) over Anders Antonsen.

MUKTAR Edris took everyone by surprise when he beat leg- end Mo Farah in the 5000m final at the 2017 World Champi- onship in the UK. Two years later, he clinched the title once again, showcasing how he is ready to become the new king in the discipline.

The 28-year old, who is the youngest in the family of three sisters and four brothers, comes from a humble background, and has it in him to create a legacy of his own. But the ath- lete has had a fair share of struggle too before his rise. The Ethiopian trained without shoes at the beginning, and only got to run in shoes when he was around ten years old.

The long distance runner has come a long way since his first cross country race in Spain, where he finished seventh in 2011. He has won a number of titles in the last decade and will be looked upon as a serious contender for a third straight 5000m title in Eugene. Before the World Championship in the US in July, Edris is aiming to strike another gold in the World 10K in Bengaluru on Sunday.

The runner has been trou- bled by muscle injury in the past, and hopes that it does not pose an obstacle in the races leading up to the Worlds. He has had issues with his abductor — inside right thigh — and now he has issues on the outside. "It has been good for the last two to three weeks. Hmmm, now 90% all good with the injury," said Edris, whose hero is Haile Ge- brselassie, who won back-to- back gold medals in the 10,000m at the 1996 and 2000 Olympics.

The World 10K race will be Edris last road race before turning his attention to a couple of Diamond League track races and then to the Worlds. "I hope to better my timing in Eugene (Worlds). Injury is a prob- lem but I will try," said Edris. "Yeah, this (World 10K) is prepa- ration for the next competi- tion. Every race is preparation for the next. Every race is good for me, it's like hard training, tempo and kick training. I will participate in the Rome and Paris Diamond Leagues. These races are all training for the Worlds."

He is coming into the race with an impressive first posi- tion finish (in 10k) in Spain.

8, 12, 12, 9, 6, 32, 1 and 56. These numbers of Jonny Bairstow in his first eight matches for Pun- jab Kings does not draw a great picture. Even his half century in the last game against Rajas- than Royals missed that dan- gerous Englishman, who can tear apart the bowling attack. But then when it comes to such players, it is just a matter of time. You never know when it is their day to turn the heat.

Teams in the IPL auction were also aware of his consist- ent performances in the last few editions and his match-winning abilities. For instance, he has scored 248 (in 7 matches, IPL 2021), 345 (11, 2020), 445 (10, 2019). No wonder, three teams, includ- ing Delhi Capitals, Sunrisers Hyderabad and Punjab Kings battled it out for his signature, and was eventually snapped by the latter for ₹6.75 cr.

Even when his performances were not upto the mark initial- ly, the management had faith in his ability. They were looking at ways to get back to his scor- ing ways, moving him to number five from three as well. It did not work. It was then they took a strong call to give him his favoured position — opener.

Liam Livingstone top-scored with 70 for Punjab Kings | SPORTZPICS

That was not easy with Shikhar Dhawan and Mayank Agarwal, successful openers in the IPL, in that slot. The captain decid- ed to move down the order and asked Bairstow to open along- side Dhawan. It worked.

The 32-year-old, who opened for the first time in the last game, scored a half-century to give him the confidence. The opener then came up with a sensational innings of 29-ball 66 to play an important role in helping Punjab score 209/9 against Royal Challengers Ban- galore in Mumbai on Friday.

Fellow country man Liam Livingstone applied the finish- ing touches with a 42-ball 70 to power their team to a big score. Such was the dominance of the two Englishmen that Harshal Patel's four wicket haul re- mained in the backdrop.

However, this innings from Livingstone does not come as a big surprise. The six-hitting ma- chine has been in incredible touch this season as was wit- nessed in his fourth half-centu- ry of the season on Friday. He was at his menacing best, deal- ing in sixes (four in number). In fact, he was harsh on Josh Hazle- wood, who was smashed for 24 runs in the penultimate over.

The Australian, who conced- ed 64 runs, was punished badly by Bairstow too. The opener got going with a 22-run over in the second over. Bairstow looked to put bowlers on backfoot. RCB could not even understand what hit them. He was dismissed by Shahbaz Ahmed in the 10th over, but the assault did not stop as Livingstone took over from there and put Punjab in a solid position before the break.

In reply, RCB lost their open- ers early, and Glenn Maxwell for 22-ball 35. It wasn't enough as RCB scored 155/9, falling short by 54 runs as their play- off qualification hopes took a big hit.

Brief scores: PBKS 209/9 in 20 ovs (Living- stone 70, Bairstow 66; Harshal 4/34) bt RCB 155/9 in 20 ovs (Maxwell 35, Rabada 3/21).

Worlds trials closer to event

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

WITH the 2022 Asian Games postponed indefinitely, the Wrestling Federation of In- dia (WFI) has decided to shift its focus to the three upcom- ing Ranking Series and the Commonwealth Games be- fore organising fresh trials for the World Championships scheduled in September.

As far as the proposed se- lection trials scheduled on May 16 and 17 are concerned, they will help the federation in picking up teams for the upcoming events and CWG. "For women's wrestling and freestyle, trials will be held in six Olympic weight cate- gories at SAI training centre, Lucknow, and IG Stadium, New Delhi, on May 16 and 17 respectively. There are several wrestlers who want to change their categories and compete in Olympic weight divisions, which is why we are organising trials in these six classes first. We will hold trials in the remaining four categories to complete the squad. These trials will be held at the respective training bases of the wrestlers," said a WFI source.

Plant grows on soil from moon

Ground-breaking research gives scientists hope of growing plants on lunar surface

SPACE

WASHINGTON: That's one small pot of soil, one giant leap for humankind's knowledge of space agriculture: scientists have for the first time grown plants in lunar soil brought back by astronauts in the Apollo program.

The ground-breaking experiment, detailed in the journal Communications Biology on Thursday, has given researchers hope that it may be possible to one day grow plants directly on the Moon.

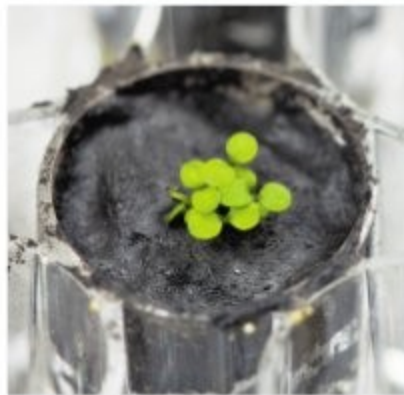

That would save future space missions much hassle and expense, facilitating longer and farther trips. However, according to the study's University of Florida authors, much remains to be studied on the topic, and they intend to leave no stone unturned.

"This research is critical to NASA's long-term human exploration goals," said Bill Nelson, the head of the US space agency. "We'll need to use resources found on the Moon and Mars to develop food sources for future astronauts living and operating in deep space."

For their experiment, the researchers used just 12 grams (a few teaspoons) of lunar soil collected from various spots on the Moon during the Apollo 11, 12, and 17 missions.

In tiny thimble-sized pots, they placed about a gram of soil (called "regolith") and added water, then the seeds. They also fed the plants a nutrient solution every day.

The researchers chose to plant arabidopsis thaliana, a relative of mustard greens, because it grows easily and, most importantly, has been studied extensively. Its genetic code and responses to hostile environments — even in space — are well known. As a control group, seeds were also planted in soil from Earth as well as samples imitating lunar and Martian soil. The result: after two days, everything sprouted, including the lunar samples.

"Every plant — whether in a lunar sample or in a control — looked the same up until about day six," Anna-Lisa Paul, lead author of the paper, said in a statement.

But after that, differences started to appear: the plants in the lunar samples grew more slowly and had stunted roots.

After 20 days, the scientists harvested all the plants, and ran studies on their DNA.

Their analysis showed that the lunar plants had reacted similarly to those grown in hostile environments, such as soil with too much salt, or heavy metals. In the future, scientists want to understand how this environment could be made more hospitable.

NASA is preparing to return to the Moon as part of the Artemis program, with a long-term goal of establishing a lasting human presence on its surface.

Two Twitter managers sacked

TECH

SAN FRANCISCO: Twitter fired two of its top managers on Thursday, the latest sign of internal turmoil amid Tesla billionaire Elon Musk's planned buyout of the company.

One Twitter general manager, Kayvon Beykpour, is leaving after 7 years. In a series of tweets Thursday, Beykpour said CEO Parag Agrawal "asked me to leave after letting me know that he wants to take the team in a different direction."

Bruce Falck, Twitter's revenue and product lead, was also fired, according to a tweet that has since been deleted. His Twitter bio now says "unemployed." "I dedicate this Tweet to those engineers and thank you ALL for the opportunity to serve alongside you. It's been awesome. There is a lot more to do so get back to work, I can't wait to see what you build," Falck tweeted.

Twitter confirmed both departures and said the company is pausing most hiring and except for business critical roles. In addition, it said in a statement, "we are pulling back on non-labor costs to ensure we are being responsible and efficient." Beykpour was the general manager of consumer Twitter, leading design, research, product, engineering and customer service and operations teams, according to his Twitter bio. A co-founder of the live streaming app Periscope, Beykpour joined Twitter when the social media company bought his startup in 2015.

"I hope and expect that Twitter's best days are still ahead of it," he said on Twitter.

The cloud of matter swirling around a black hole is only visible using a very precise band of radio frequencies, called millimetric waves, and only using a radiotelescope — like a TV satellite dish but much bigger

It needs to be huge to detect the weak radio signal emitted by an object at such a vast distance from Earth. But no single radiotelescope with current technology has a high enough resolution

So astronomers used interferometry — linking a pair of radio antennae trained on the same object in the sky, to create a "virtual" telescope called an interferometer. This can see fine detail, like the zoom lens of a camera

EXFILE • ASTRONOMY

The eyes that found the monster

On Thursday, an international team of astronomers unveiled the first image of the supermassive black hole at the centre of the Milky Way. We take a look at the Event Horizon Telescope that brought us the first glimpse of Sagittarius A*

WIDE COVERAGE

The Event Horizon Telescope (EHT) is not a single telescope, but a unique network of antennae across the world that together form a virtual telescope nearly as wide as Earth itself — about 10,000 kilometres across. Working in tandem, they detect the light cast when matter disappears into the maw of a black hole

WHAT IS EVENT HORIZON

The flash of light produced when matter — planets, debris, anything that comes too close — is sucked into a black hole's outer boundary, called an event horizon. The telescopes capture this flash of light, which is why it is called the Event Horizon Telescope

NO EASY JOB

The signals received at each antenna have to be matched wave for wave, even if the dishes are half a world away

VERY LONG BASELINE INTERFEROMETRY

The EHT project uses radio telescopes at eight observatories around the world — from the Americas to Europe, Greenland to Antarctica — to create a new and more vastly powerful telescope

This technique is known as very long baseline interferometry (VLBI)

As the Earth turns, the different telescopes catch slightly different waves of light emitted by the matter around a black hole, and these patterns can eventually be combined to form a more complete picture. In other words, VLBI allows astronomers to see the universe in more detail than ever

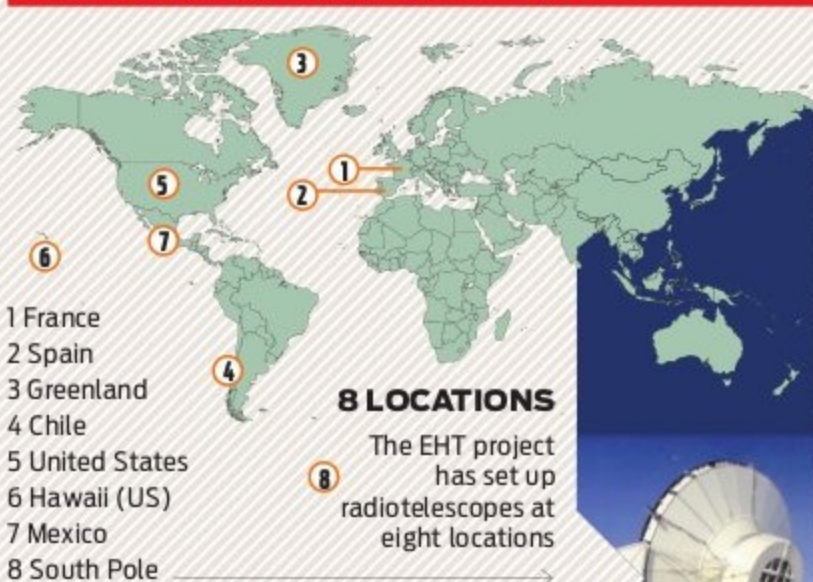

HOW THEY DID IT

The team used eight radio telescopes spread across the globe to collect data on the black hole over the course of five nights in 2017. Because black holes are so hard to see, there is a lot of uncertainty in the data the telescopes collect

To turn it all into an accurate image, the team used supercomputers to produce millions of different images, each one a mathematically viable version of the black hole based on the data collected and the laws of physics

They then blended all of these images together to produce the final, beautiful, accurate image

A NETWORK OF RADIO DISHES

8 LOCATIONS

The EHT project has set up radiotelescopes at eight locations

MORE WORK AHEAD

"So now we're going to try to add more telescopes, try to collect more data," Katie Bouman, who was part of the team, said

Ranil assumes charge as Lanka PM, struggles to form unity govt

Oppn parties not to support Wickremesinghe govt, say his premiership lacks legitimacy

Indian High Commission denies stopping issuance of visas

Colombo: Indian High Commission in Sri Lanka on Friday categorically denied that it has stopped issuing visas in the country, saying the disruption was caused by operational difficulties due to the inability of Visa Wing staff, most of whom are Sri Lankan nationals, to attend office. The High Commission said it was striving to return to its normal functioning soon. "High Commission categorically denies that it or the Indian Consulates-General or the Assistant High Commission of #India in #SriLanka have stopped issuing visas. In the past few days, there were operational difficulties due to the inability of our Visa Wing staff, most of whom are #SriLankan nationals, to attend office," the Indian High Commission tweeted. PTI

Not suicide, MP beaten to death: Police

Colombo: A former Sri Lankan ruling party legislator who died in a violent clash in the western town of Nittambuwa was beaten to death by a mob and it was not a suicide as reported earlier, police said on Friday. Amarakeerthi Athukorala, a member of parliament in former Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa-led Sri Lanka Podujana Peramuna (SLPP) administration, died on Monday in the country's Western town of Nittambuwa after a clash with an angry mob. Earlier it was claimed that the 57-year legislator from Sri Lanka's North Central district of Polannaruwa committed suicide by shooting himself after he opened fire at two members of the group which had surrounded his vehicle on Monday. PTI

COLOMBO

SRI LANKA'S new prime minister struggled on Friday to forge a unity government and forestall an imminent economic collapse as opposition lawmakers refused to join his cabinet and demanded fresh elections. Ranil Wickremesinghe was sworn in late on Thursday to navigate his country through the worst downturn in its history as an independent nation, with months of shortages and blackouts inflaming public anger. The 73-year-old insists he has enough support to govern and approached several legislators to join him, but four opposition parties have already said his premiership lacks legitimacy. Senior opposition lawmaker Harsha de Silva publicly rejected an offer to take over the finance ministry and said he would instead push for the government's resignation. "People are not asking for political games and deals, they want a new system that will safeguard their future," he said in a statement. De Silva said he was joining "the people's struggle" to topple President Gotabaya Rajapaksa and would not support any political settlement that left the leader in place. Huge public demonstrations have for weeks condemned Rajapaksa over his administration's mismanagement of the worsening economic crisis. Hundreds remain outside his seat office in the capital Colombo at a protest camp that has for the past month campaigned for him to step down. De Silva is a member of the Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB), the largest opposition party in parliament, which had appeared ready to split over whether to support Wickremesinghe. But the head of the possible splinter faction, Harin Fernando, said Friday he had returned to the fold. "I will not support Wickremesinghe's government," said Fernando. Three smaller parties have also signalled they will not join any unity government, with the leftist People's Liberation Front (JVP) demanding fresh elections. However, the cash-strapped government is unlikely to be able to afford polls, or even print ballots, at a time when a national paper shortage forced schools to postpone exams. Paikiasothy Saravanamuttu of the Colombo-based Centre for Policy Alternatives think tank said Wickremesinghe would still likely be able to govern with the support of Rajapaksa-allied lawmakers. "He'll appoint a cabinet and get on with the job," said Saravanamuttu. Sri Lankans have suffered months of severe shortages of food, fuel and medicine — as well as long power cuts — after the country burnt through foreign currency reserves needed to pay for vital imports. AFP

UAE prez & Abu Dhabi ruler Sh Khalifa dies

DUBAI

UAE's long-ailing President and ruler of Abu Dhabi Sheikh Khalifa bin Zayed Al Nahyan passed away on Friday, the Ministry of Presidential Affairs said. He was 73. The ministry announced a 40-day period of mourning and suspension of work in all ministries and the private sector for three days beginning Friday, including flags to be flown at half-staff. "The Ministry of Presidential Affairs condole the people of the UAE, the Arab and Islamic nation and the world over the demise of His Highness Sheikh Khalifa bin Zayed Al Nahyan, the president of the UAE," the official WAM news agency said in a statement. Sheikh Khalifa was the eldest son of UAE's founder-President Sheikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan. He served as the president of the UAE and ruler of Abu Dhabi from November 3, 2004. He was elected to succeed his father who served as the UAE's first president from 1971 until he passed away on November 2, 2004. Sheikh Khalifa's role had been largely ceremonial since he suffered a stroke and underwent surgery in 2014. His brother and Abu Dhabi's crown prince, Sheikh Mohammed bin Zayed, has been widely seen as the de-facto leader of the UAE, handling day-to-day affairs for the Gulf state. Sheikh Khalifa oversaw much of UAE's economic growth and his name was immortalised on the world's tallest building, the Burj Khalifa, after bailing out debt-crippled Dubai during its financial crisis over a decade ago. PTI

22 held for protesting food price hike in Iran

Tehran: Iranian authorities have arrested at least 22 demonstrators who had been protesting sudden price hikes of subsidised staple foods in two southern cities, the media reported on Friday. The arrests follow Iran's announcement this week that the cost of cooking oil, chicken, eggs and milk would rise by as much as 300 per cent, as food prices surge across the Middle East due to global supply chain snarls and Russia's invasion of major food exporter Ukraine. The state-run IRNA news agency reported that 15 people were arrested overnight in the southwestern city of Dezful in Khuzestan province, as well as seven others in the city of Yasuj in Kohgiluyeh-Boyer-Ahmad province in the south. AP

Ex-Rwanda officer detained over genocide

The Hague: The Netherlands has arrested a former Rwandan paramilitary police officer over his alleged participation in the 1994 Rwandan genocide, the prosecutor's office said on Friday. Dutch authorities "arrested a 65-year-old Rwandan man" who had lived in the country since 1998 on Wednesday, it said in a statement, without naming him. He was an "officer in the gendarmerie in Rwanda in 1994", and Rwandan authorities had demanded his extradition over his alleged "role in massacres in the capital Kigali and in Mugina" in April 1994, it added. An estimated 30,000 civilians were killed in the Mugina parish massacre between April 21 and 26, 1994, it said. AFP

One killed, 12 injured in Karachi bombing

Karachi: One person was killed and 12 injured in a bomb blast late Thursday in Karachi, police said, in the second attack by separatist militants to hit Pakistan's most populous city in recent weeks. The explosion in the Saddar neighbourhood was claimed by the Sindhuvesh Revolutionary Army — a dissident faction fighting for independence in the province of Sindh. In a statement released on Telegram the SRA said it planted a "remote control bomb" targeting a coastguard vehicle and vowed to "continue its resistance struggle till complete freedom". Police said one "passerby" was the only person slain, while a coastguard vehicle was among "several" damaged. "Initial investigation suggested that the explosive material was planted in a motorcycle that was parked near a trash bin," said local police station house officer Sajjad Khan. AFP

Chinese spy ship has been hugging west coast: Min

Canberra: Australia's defence minister said on Friday that a Chinese warship with spying capabilities had been hugging the nation's western coastline. Minister Peter Dutton said the ship was sighted on Friday morning heading north about 250 nautical miles from Broome in Western Australia, and had been tracked along the coastline for the past week. "Its intention, of course, is to collect intelligence right along the coastline," Dutton said. AFP

PHILIPPINES

Presidential candidate vows to fight lies

Manila: Philippine presidential runner-up Leni Robredo vowed on Friday to focus on "fighting lies" as she urged supporters to accept election results. Robredo was the last obstacle to the Marcos family completing a decades-long climb back to the peak of power. After narrowly beating Ferdinand Marcos Junior in the 2016 vice presidential race, Robredo, 57, had hoped to cause another upset in a rematch. But an almost complete initial count shows Marcos Jr with more than double her votes. "While the picture is getting clearer, we need to start accepting that the election result is not according to our dreams," Robredo told fans gathered at a Manila university campus. "We need to accept the decision of the majority and I implore everyone to be with me on this," she said, as many in the crowd wiped away tears. AFP

Russia suffers huge losses in failed river crossing: Ukraine

KYIV

RUSSIA suffered heavy losses when Ukrainian forces destroyed the pontoon bridge enemy troops were using to try to cross a river in the east, Ukrainian and British officials said, another sign of Moscow's struggle to win decisive victories and salvage a war gone awry. Ukrainian authorities, meanwhile, opened the first war crimes trial of the conflict on Friday, in proceedings that will be closely watched by international observers eager to ensure atrocities are fairly prosecuted. A Russian soldier stands accused of killing a Ukrainian civilian in the early days of the war. The trial gets under way as Russia's campaign in Ukraine's eastern industrial heartland of the Donbas makes faltering progress. Ukraine's airborne forces command has released photos and video of what it said was a damaged Russian pontoon bridge over the Siverskyi Donets River and several destroyed or damaged Russian military vehicles nearby. Ukrainian news reports said troops thwarted Russian passage across the river earlier this week, leaving dozens of tanks or military vehicles damaged or abandoned. The command said Thursday its troops "drowned the Russian occupiers."

Britain's Defense Ministry said on Friday that Russia lost "significant armored maneuver elements" of at least one battalion tactical group as well as equipment used to deploy a makeshift floating bridge. "Conducting river crossings in a contested environment is a highly risky maneuver and speaks to the pressure the Russian commanders are under to make progress in their operations in eastern Ukraine," the ministry said in its daily intelligence update.

Russia's forces have struggled to do so, even after diverting troops from other parts of the country to the Donbas, the statement said.

In that grinding fighting, the Ukrainian military chief for the eastern Luhansk region said on Friday that Russian forces opened fire 31 times on residential areas the day before, destroying dozens of homes, notably in Hirsk and Popasnianska villages, and a bridge in Rubizhne. AFP

Europe pledges another $500 mn in military aid

Wangles: Europe pledged another half billion dollars in military support for Kyiv on Friday and Sweden edged closer to joining NATO as the war in Ukraine entered its 12th week. At a meeting of the world's most powerful democracies, European Union foreign policy chief Josep Borrell promised Ukraine an extra 500 million euros ($520 million), bringing the bloc's total military aid to two billion euros. "The recipe is clear — more of the same," Borrell said. "More pressure on Russia, with economic sanctions," he said.

Russia expels 10 Romanian diplomats

Bucharest: Russia is expelling 10 Romanian diplomats, both sides said Friday, in a tit-for-tat move following Moscow's invasion of Ukraine. "The Russian federation declared 10 employees of the Romanian embassy in Moscow persona non grata," the Romanian foreign ministry said in a statement. The news was confirmed by Moscow and follows the April 5 expulsion of 10 Russian diplomats "whose activities breached the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations," according to the Romanian foreign ministry. AFP

Thousands mourn Al Jazeera journalist at Jerusalem funeral

JERUSALEM

THOUSANDS of people packed Jerusalem's tense Old City on Friday for the burial of veteran Al Jazeera reporter Shireen Abu Akleh, after Israeli police stormed the start of the funeral procession. Israel and the Palestinians have traded blame over the fatal shooting of the Palestinian-American on Wednesday during an Israeli raid in the occupied West Bank. The interim findings of an Israeli army investigation could not determine who fired the bullet that killed Abu Akleh, the military said. But an army statement noted a soldier could have fired the bullet that killed the 51-year-old journalist, in what Al Jazeera called a deliberate "killing in cold blood". "The investigation shows two possibilities for the source of the shot that killed her," the army said. The first could have been "massive fire of Palestinian gunmen (at Israeli soldiers), as part of which hundreds of bullets were shot from a number of locations."

"The other option is that during the firefight, one of the soldiers shot a few bullets from a jeep using a telescopic scope at a terrorist who was firing at his vehicle."

TV images showed Abu Akleh's coffin nearly falling to the ground as Israeli police grabbed Palestinian flags from the crowd around the procession outside Saint Joseph's hospital in Israeli-annexed east Jerusalem. Israel forbids public displays of Palestinian flags and often storms individuals who hoist them at rallies or protests in the city. A senior Palestinian figure, Hanan Ashrawi, tweeted that "savagery Israeli 'special forces' viciously attack the funeral procession bearing the coffin" of Abu Akleh as it left St Joseph's hospital. AFP

Israeli dead, 13 Palestinians hurt in West Bank shootout

JENIN

AN ISRAELI officer was shot dead Friday during raids around Jenin on Friday, Israel's premier said, in the latest unrest to hit the flashpoint camp in the occupied West Bank. The Palestinian health ministry said 13 Palestinians were also injured during the raids. "Today we lost a real hero, Noam Raz (during a) complex and sensitive operation against terrorists," Bennett said in a statement. Police said he was injured in Burjini, near Jenin, during a "shootout with terrorists" and later died from his wounds.

The army said it carried out several raids in the West Bank early Friday jointly with police units.

The raids included one in the restive refugee camp of Jenin to investigate the site where veteran Palestinian journalist Shireen Abu Akleh was killed on Wednesday. The army said that it used the raid to investigate the spot where Al Jazeera journalist was killed. AFP

STYLING IT LIKE ROYALS

Ace designer Manoviraj Khosla and a decades-old jewellery brand have collaborated to ensure grooms deck out on their D-Day

MONIKA MONALISA

A silk, zardosi-work sherwani, embellished with Basara pearls, solitaires and yellow sapphires. These are definitely the keywords to feel royal. Putting it all together in a package, Prathibha Jewellery in collaboration with ace designer Manoviraj Khosla, has come up with a regal look for grooms.

If you are wondering what jewellery grooms can pick, then Sanjeev Mohan, owner of a 70-year-old jewellery brand, is giving you many options to choose from. The latest designs showcase a collector's necklace of rare Basara pearls, which brings back the grandeur of Persian sultans.

One of the highlights of the collection is Kalgi, a turban ornament. "Kalgi is a popular concept in north India but it's getting popular in the south too. What we have in our wedding collection is a large number of uncut diamonds in the centre along with Burmese rubies and smaller diamonds. One end has Columbian emeralds while the other has a pearl drop," says Mohan, adding the other highlight of the collection are the buttons for the sherwani, made of precious stones. "We have buttons in blue sapphire, emerald, and in yellow and white gold. The big ones are for the body and the smaller ones are for the sleeves. There is also an option to detach them," explains Mohan.

The collection speaks volumes about how to put together a royal look. "The inspiration behind the collection are the Mughals who had fine taste in jewellery and gemstones. But it is also about refining that grandeur in our everyday look," explains Mohan, adding that the mantra is 'less is more'. For example, the three-stringed Basara pearls and solitaire rings are classics which never go out of fashion. "The three-stringed pearls cost over ₹1 crore. Even if it's a simple design, it commands attention," says Mohan.

These classic accessories deserved to be teamed with a sherwani that has been stitched to perfection. And Khosla closed the look with a gold sherwani with zardosi work on the collars and sleeves. But the ace designer says the star of the ensemble are the jewels. "I just designed the sherwani, the idea with jewellery was all Sanjeev's," says Khosla.

The sherwani is in matt gold with zardosi work on the collar and sleeves. The idea is to highlight the accessories

WEEKENDS AT HOME

EXPRESS FEATURES

THE city experienced its coldest May even as the rest of the country is going through a heatwave. This week, Bengalureans brought out their winter clothes and reminisced the old ooru days when a nip in the air was commonplace. If you're thinking of staying warm and cosy at home this weekend, here are some fun activities you can do to enjoy the weather and the weekend.

Virtual Cooking

Your friends might not want to get out of their homes just like you, so plan a virtual cooking night with them. Make something delicious and enjoy it with a glass of wine. You can also be generous and send it over to friends for them to try.

Game Time

Do you remember those board games you bought during the lockdown in 2020? Bring those out and brush up on your gaming skills. - It does feel like the monsoons made an early appearance, doesn't it? And we love our snacks this season. This local snack is made from colocasia leaves that are abundantly available in the monsoons. The leaves are dipped in different spice mixtures, rolled and deep fried. Can you name it?
- There's really nothing like crispy fried snacks and filter kaapi to keep you company in the rains. These papads made from tapioca typically are usually prepared in anticipation of rain – usually eaten as a snack or side. What is this special we are referring to?
- This Karnataka-style rasa chutney is made in summers and is a perfect balance of sweet and spicy with a hint of tanginess. What is the fruit used in it? Remember to be specific!

PARVATASANA (MOUNTAIN POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'parvata' means mountain and 'asana' means pose. This pose is part of the Sun Salutation series of asanas. It appears as the 4th and 9th pose in the Sun Salutation or Surya Namaskara. It looks like a mountain from the sides and hence the name. This asana can strengthen wrists and legs. It also increases the flow of blood to the head. It gives natural massage to the heart and lung muscle and is very useful in relieving lumber, spinal, shoulder, knee and ankle pains and varicose veins.

STEPS

- Start in the 4th series of Ashwa Sanchalanasana in Surya Namaskar.
- After Ashwa Sanchalanasana, straighten the bent leg and move it back. Exhale during this process with feet together.
- After that, inhale and raise your buttocks. Let your arms be on the floor and support the body weight.
- Now, while exhaling, lower the head to between your arms and straighten the legs.
- At this stage, the body makes the shape of a triangle when observed from the sides.
- Hold this final position, breathing normally.
- It is done in the Sun Salutation series as the 4th and the 9th pose, with a mantra chanting.
- During 4th pose, the chanting is "Om Khagaya Namaha", which means salutations to the one who moves in the sky.
- The next chanting for the same pose in the 9th series is "Om Marichaye Namaha", which means salutation to the lord of the dawn.

BENEFITS

- Makes the spine elastic, tones muscles. It corrects defects in curvature and displacement of vertebrae.
- Strengthens several fragile areas of our bodies and stretches calf and hamstring muscles, back and forearms.
- Prevents and relieves carpal tunnel syndrome, rheumatic stiffness, and arthritis.
- Helps circulation to the brain and reduces mental fatigue, improves memory and concentration.
- It is a whole body stretch that allows good blood circulation.
- Try when you feel mentally exhausted, bored and sleepy after a long day at work.

LIMITATIONS

- If you have any wrist, hip or ankle injury, hunch back, acute trouble in spinal column or shoulder pain, avoid this asana.
- People with excessive hypertension should avoid.

ARE WE JUDGE- 'MENTAL'?

Ciao Amici!

IT has recently dawned on me that no matter what one does...some people are born to be 'children of controversy'. I know of many actors and certain folk who court disputation just to be noticed. Any conversation is better than no conversation is their adage. That is the Gen-X Formula. 'B* or Beef!' Either complain about it or take it headlong. In my time (Lord! I never thought I would hear myself say it), to court cynosure was considered gauche and distasteful. Well, now these two words mean publicity and exposure.

I have been following a young 'un on Instagram who tears her clothes on purpose, ties them up over strategic body parts,

RUBINATIONS

Rubi Chakravarti

Writer, actor and funny girl and totters unbecomingly on very high heels to defiantly stand on any footpath to be photographed by God alone knows who! She makes outlandish statements, fights ferociously with security guards who try to shoo her away, then gets into a cab and leaves. I have a morbid fascination with her and avidly follow her on social media. She has no talent (or hasn't shown it yet), and other than indecent exposure and sheer gibberish that she sprouts, this young lady is a sensation because she creates a 'controversy'! This very outlandish behaviour has earned her millions of followers and she has the paparazzi tied up in knots trying to photograph her. This young 'un, has managed to make a living doing her own thing.

I know of so many viable people here who live in huge glass houses and throw the biggest stones. The moment you hear, 'I'm not judgmental at all,' run for your life. All of us have coloured opinions and that's fine as long as we acknowledge it. A group of us was at the new hot-spot in town, Bombay Borough. We were an eclectic group and that made the dinner table even more interesting and fun. The age group and the demographics differed and the predominant common thread running through the group was a love of food and uhh...a fondness for some really amazing tipples! Naturally, as the cocktails flowed, the delicious food and interesting tit-bits of 'conversations' got better. Good friends egged me on and an impromptu and raucous fun video extolling the virtues of a cheese kulcha was made! Please don't judge me!

My point is that through the evening opinions were shared, whether it was a current scandal or a political event that occurred. We laughed, argued, and discussed threadbare things. Some of us conceded, while some opinions changed or remained the same. Were we being judgmental? Of course, not! Like all healthy get-togethers, we ended up clinking our glasses and sipping on the superbly made cocktails.

Earlier that evening, my 'bong' blood sang with delight as I watched Prasad Bidapa showcase the very talented Bibi Russell's line of sustainably viable clothes at Go Native. Bibi is an internationally-acclaimed fashion designer and is known for her association with UNESCO's Art for Peace and creative initiatives in her home country, Bangladesh. I just love Prasad's passion for sustainability and his commitment to help our languishing artisans. Well done, my friend, you are a 'sustainable' inspiration.

A 'sustainable and non-judgmental' thought... Be a master of your will and a slave to your conscience.

HoneyMoon to stream on Voot Select from May 20

CE FEATURES

SHIVARAJKUMAR is set to present an endearing and unconventional take on arranged marriages with the Kannada series, Honeymoon. The series will stream on Voot Select from May 20.

The series stars Nagabhushana, Sanjana Anand, Pawan Kumar, Apoorva Bharadwaj, Anand Ninan and Archana Kotige in prominent roles. Shivarajkumar launched the trailer of Honeymoon on Thursday, and said that the show will entertain audiences across all age groups. "There are so many good Kannada stories waiting to be told and so many storytellers waiting to be recognised. The story of Honeymoon excited me and since my daughter (Niveditha) was also involved in this project, I went ahead and provided my full support."

The six-episode series starring Nagabhushana and Sanjana Anand talks about an unconventional Indian marriage

Written by Nagabhushana as a six-episode series, Honeymoon is backed by Shivarajkumar's Shri Mutthu Cine Services. The plot explores an unconventional marriage of a timid man and an outspoken dominant woman, and what happens when they go on one unforgettable honeymoon.

"Comedy is my strength. During my initial days, I used to create digital content on my YouTube channel called KEB. This helped me bag Honeymoon. We had many memorable moments during the shoot," said Nagabhushana.

Talking about her role in the series, Sanjana said, "Getting under the skin of the character for Honeymoon was quite exciting. She likes living life on her own terms. Her highly opinionated nature makes it difficult for her to adjust to an arranged marriage setup, which is the situation in most Indian households. The honeymoon phase plays very different roles in arranged marriages and love marriages. Our show has portrayed the need for this private time in arranged marriages."

A SOAPY, SYRUPY ANTHOLOGY

MODERN LOVE MUMBAI

Cast: Fatima Sana Shaikh, Pratik Gandhi, Meiyang Chang, Arshad Warsi, Chitrangada Singh

Streaming on: Amazon Prime Video

SHILAJIT MITRA

THE standout episode in Modern Love Mumbai, Shonali Bose's Raat Rani, kicks off with an ice-cream date gone wrong. Lali (Fatima Sana Shaikh) has been ordering the same mawa-flavoured ice-cream for years; her husband, Lutfi (Bhupendra Jadawat), has wearied of it. Amazon Prime Video's series has a similar effect. By themselves, the stories in this anthology are sweet, compassionate and—in the case of Raat Rani—miraculously gluten-free. But consumed at once, they tend to hurt the teeth.

There's a bigger problem here. None of these stories are locally sourced. Amazon—which, like Netflix, has heaped anthology upon anthology on the Indian market—could have gone bold by sourcing first-hand stories from Mumbai (by all accounts, a throbbingly romantic city). No such luck. Modern Love Mumbai is adapted from the same New York Times column that spawned the US series. The idea makes sense for fiction, not a set of personal, real-life essays. It sets a strange precedent of six distinctly Indian filmmakers reworking secondhand stories into a localised ethos.

In Hansal Mehta's Baai, singer Manzar Ali (Pratik Gandhi) falls for chef Rajveer (Ranveer Brar), while afraid the news might fatally affect his ailing grandmother (Tanuja). My Beautiful Wrinkles, by Alankrita Shrivastava, and I Love Thane, by Dhruv Sehgal, both centre on a female protagonist adrift in the city, played by Sarika Thakur and Masaba Gupta, respectively, and forming a bond with a younger boy. Sui (Yeo Yann Yann) is aggrieved after her grown-up son (Meiyang Chang) takes up with a vegetarian girl (Wamiqa Gabbi) in Vishal Bhardwaj's Mumbai Dragon. And in Nupur Asthana's Cutting Chai, Latika (Chitrangada Singh) and Daniel (Arshad Warsi) rethink their marriage of many years.

Several of the films are cozy and heart-warming to a fault. Many have a habit of verbalising their characters' existential states, an annoying habit of rom-coms. The lines are either obvious ("There is no right age for love...") or heavy with metaphor ("There is a fourth dimension... that dimension is time"). I Love Thane loses the naturalism it introduces between its leads. Mumbai Dragon meanders after a while. Even Baai—though well-acted and garnished with food and feeling—has that preordained sense of flipping through a family album. It's the reason why Raat Rani, an engaging tale of independence and self-worth, is a winner, maintaining a steady beat of surprise through its runtime.

Though not originally drawn from Mumbai, the films at least capture the multicultural spirit of the city. Lali and Lutfi are runaways from Kashmir (their accents constitute a hotchpotch common to migrants). Vishal's story is a window into the (diminishing) Indian-Chinese community in Mumbai. At one point, Sui, who begins the film by swearing to not speak in Hindi (...in Hindi!), reminds about Deoli, in Rajasthan, where Indian-Chinese citizens were interned during the 1962 Indo-Sino war. The past springs up in Baai as well, Manzar flashing to a traumatic childhood memory during the Mumbai riots.

There are a few witty cameos, and a delightful parody of an archetypal Vishal Bhardwaj song. Yann, a Malaysian-Singaporean star making her Hindi debut, turns in a fun, animated performance (as does Fatima). And there's something to be said about Arshad—for long, a forgotten romantic actor—turning on the charm. He rescues the series at its clumsiest, an awkward closing montage threading the different segments together. It enforces an orderliness Arshad's easygoing performance denies.

"How do you capture a city in a caption?" we're asked in Modern Love Mumbai. The simple answer is you don't.

A REFLECTION OF THE PRESENT LIFESTYLE

A SHARADHAA

WITH Selfie Mummy Google Daddy, director Madhu Chandra departs an important message that is relevant and rare in this tech-driven age. The film deals with smartphones and social media addiction, and the film tries to reflect the reality of how the addiction is affecting children and adults.

Surya (Srujan Lokesh) and Shalini (Meghana Raj Sarja) are working parents, whose kids (Master Alaap and Babyshree) are addicted to playing mobile games. They alienate themselves leading to mental frustration, mood swings, isolation, and stress which become a worry for Surya and Shalini, who are mobile phone addicts themselves.

Finally, they find a solution at a mobile de-addiction center. And how the center helps them sustain their life forms the story of the film.

All the while, the film also helps us understand the children's behavior. Especially, the portions involving Achyuth Kumar that discuss mobile de-addiction turns out to be thought-provoking. Such social consciousness makes the film a worthy attempt. The film, in a way, helps to reassess and re-evaluate our lifestyle. Another rewarding thing in the film is how it tells it all in a light-hearted tone and sticks to the core of the film without meandering into details. That makes it an accessible film for all (especially family audiences). Srujan and Meghana Raj Sarja suit the role and genuinely convey the message, and so do the remaining cast members -- Dattanna and Girija Lokesh. Child artists have played their natural best. Selfie Mummy Google Daddy, which makes a convincing reflection of the present lifestyle, makes up for a one-time watch.

RANVEER SINGH STEERS A ROCKY DRAMEDY

JAYESHBHAI JORDAAR

Cast: Ranveer Singh, Shalini Pandey, Boman Irani, Ratna Pathak Shah, Jia Vaidya

SHILAJIT MITRA

Film fans pride themselves on an excellent memory. They'd remember, for instance, that Ranveer Singh had played a Gujarati boy in Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Ram-Leela (2013). They'd also remember three distinct things about his character from that film: his abs, his handiness with guns, and a stack of porn DVDs he peddled on the side.

All these associations—of pride, of virile masculinity—are undone in Jayeshbhai Jor- daar. Ranveer, as titular Gujarati protagonist Jayesh, stays fully clothed throughout the film. He's physically unimposing (in a short moustache) and, more shockingly, has never even kissed his wife. He also rejects the film's call of becoming 'an action hero'. When cornered in a scene, with no way out, he escapes by threatening to cut his own balls off.

Written and directed by debutant Divyang Thakkar, Jayeshbhai Jordaar is a comedy about horrifying things. The film is set in the fictional village of 'Praveen-garh' (I was expecting actor Paresch Ganatra, famous as Praveen from Baa Bahoo Aur Baby, to drop by; he doesn't). It's a place of cruel and complete patriarchy. Jayesh's father (Boman Irani), the village chieftain, and mother (Ratna Pathak Shah) are top offenders, forcing their son and daughter-in-law to bear a male heir. So Jayesh—along with his pregnant wife Mudra (Shalini Pandey) and firstborn daughter Siddhi (a fiery Jia Vaidya)—escapes, after a doctor at a sex determination clinic clues him in.

The film wrestles with the kind of abuse and orthodoxy that permeates this world. This is often softened for mainstream audiences to watch. In an early scene, Jayesh is impelled by his parents to beat up his wife—when we cut indoors, they are play-acting the whole thing (with Siddhi assisting).

On the run, the trio frequently comes in the path of danger, and miraculously escapes. Divyang, it seems, is making a satire—on patriarchy, female foeticide, superstition, masculinity, marriage, rural politics. Yet his approach is that of slapstick comedy (and melodrama). The silly final stretch, with even the most abhorrent characters experiencing a change of heart, is laughable. And the mention of 'Ladapur'—likely modelled on Bibipur, a real Haryana village dedicated to women empowerment—is subsumed in a subplot that feels way too contrived.

Ranveer is as watchable as ever, lending a real softness and believability to Jayesh. He has a permanent twinkle in his eyes, in scenes both funny and tense. When he holds forth at a women's grieving circle, it really feels like he's pouring his heart out and not speechifying as a social cinema lead. The mix of humour, emotion and excitability he brings is rarely reciprocated in plot. Jayeshbhai Jordaar takes aim at larger societal ills, but beyond its charmingly atypical hero, the film lacks punch.
